

Foreword	by Brian Ward Lilley, Director General, IPM	7
Part 1	The Way Forward by Dianah Worman, Manager, Equal Opportunities, IPM	8
Part 2	Work and the Family – An Important Business Issue by Dianah Worman, Manager, Equal Opportunities, IPM	11
Part 3	Work and Family Care – A research report by Dorothy Berry Lound, Project Director, HOST Training and Consultancy Services	14
	Executive Summary	14
Chapter 1	Introduction	16
	1.1 The study	16
	1.2 Background	16
	1.3 Objectives of the study	16
	1.4 Methodology	17
	1.5 The report	17
Chapter 2	A Changing Workforce	18
	2.1 Introduction	18
	2.2 The demographic imperative	18
	2.3 Employment prospects	20
	2.4 Women and the workforce	20
	2.5 The greying workforce	21
	2.6 Enabling return to work	21
	2.7 Overview	22
Chapter 3	Dependant Care and the Workforce	23
	3.1 Introduction	23
	3.2 Family and dependant care	23
	3.3 Public care provision	25
	3.4 Private care provision	25
	3.5 Employer dependant care options	26
	3.6 Overview	27
Chapter 4	Dependant Care Initiatives in Britain	29
	4.1 Introduction	29
	4.2 Responding to change	29
	4.3 Dependant care initiatives by employers	30
	4.4 Child care programmes	31
	4.5 Eldercare and other dependant care	31
	4.6 Other issues	32
	4.7 Overview	32

	5.1	Introduction	33
	5.2	The case studies in context	33
	5.3	Workplace nurseries	34
	5.4	Shared day care	36
	5.5	Child care allowances	36
	5.6	School age care	37
	5.7	Eldercare	37
	5.8	Other dependant care	38
	5.9	Integrated strategies	38
	5.10	Overview	38
Chapter 6		Planning and Development	39
	6.1	Introduction	39
	6.2	The stimulus for change	39
	6.3	Information and guidance	39
	6.4	Planning and development	40
	6.5	Management paths	41
	6.6	Start-up and operating costs	41
	6.7	Benefits to organizations	43
	6.8	Eligibility	44
	6.9	Barriers to change	44
	6.10	Overview	46
Chapter 7		North America	47
	7.1	Introduction	47
	7.2	The North American context	47
	7.3	Public and private provision	48
	7.4	Dependant care initiatives by employers	50
	7.5	Some selected programmes	50
	7.6	Benefits to employers	53
	7.7	Constraints	54
	7.8	Overview	54
Chapter 8		Europe	55
	8.1	Introduction	55
	8.2	The European context	55
	8.3	Public and private balance	57
	8.4	Dependant care initiatives by employers	58
	8.5	Benefits to employers	59
	8.6	Constraints	59
	8.7	Overview	59
Chapter 9		Towards the Family-friendly Firm	60
	9.1	Introduction	60
	9.2	A family-friendly firm?	60
	9.3	Dependant care options	60
	9.4	Integrated options	61
	9.5	Moving forward	62
Appendix A		Research Methodology	64
Appendix B		Extracts from Standards of Child-minding and Day care	67
Appendix C		Bibliography	69