

Contents

Part I: The Americas, Asia and Australia

| | |
|---|-----|
| Stephen L. Morgan | |
| Biological indicators of change in the standard of living in China during the 20th century | 7 |
| Stephen Nicholas, Robert Gregory and Sue Kimberley | |
| The Welfare of Indigenous and White Australians 1890–1955 | 35 |
| Henk-Jan Brinkman and J.W. Drukker | |
| Does the Early-Economic-Growth-Puzzle Apply to Contemporary Developing Countries? | 55 |
| Ricardo Salvatore and Jörg Baten | |
| A Most Difficult Case of Estimation: Argentinian Heights, 1770–1840.... | 90 |
| Ricardo D. Salvatore | |
| Heights and Welfare in Late-Colonial and Post-Independence Argentina | 97 |
| Insong Gill | |
| Stature, Consumption, and the Standard of Living in Colonial Korea | 122 |
| Richard H. Steckel, Paul W. Sciulli and Jerome C. Rose | |
| Skeletal Remains, Health, and History: A Project on Long Term Trends in the Western Hemisphere | 139 |
| Michael R. Haines | |
| Health, Height, Nutrition, and Mortality: Evidence on the ‘Antebellum Puzzle’ from Union Army Recruits for New York State and the United States | 155 |
| Philip R. P. Coelho and Robert A. McGuire | |
| An Exploratory Essay on the Impact of Diseases upon the Interpretation of American Slavery | 181 |
| Lee A. Craig and Thomas Weiss | |
| Nutritional Status and Agricultural Surpluses in the Antebellum United States | 190 |
| Timothy Cuff | |
| Variation and Trends in the Stature of Pennsylvanians, 1820–1860 | 208 |
| John Komlos | |
| On the Biological Standard of Living of African-Americans: the Case of the Civil War Soldiers | 236 |
| Brian A’Hearn | |
| The Antebellum Puzzle Revisited: A New Look at the Physical Stature of Union Army Recruits during the Civil War | 250 |
| Barry Bogin and Ryan Keep | |
| Eight Thousand Years of Human Growth in Latin America: Economic and Political History Revealed by Anthropometry | 268 |

Markus Heintel

- Height Samples with Shortfall. A Persisting Problem Revisited 294

W. Peter Ward

- Birth Weight and the History of Modern Biological Living Standards 302

Part II: Europe

Edwin Horlings and Jan-Pieter Smits

- The Quality of Life in the Netherlands 1800–1913. Experiments in Measurement and Aggregation 321

José M. Martínez Carrión and Juan J. Pérez Castejón

- Heights and Standards of Living in Spain, 1860–1969: Evidence from the Southeastern Region 344

Gloria Quiroga Valle

- Height Evolution in Spain, 1893–1954. An Analysis by Regions and Professions 359

Sebastián Coll

- The Relationship between Human Physical Stature and GDP
(Some Experiments with European Time Series) 384

Lydia Sapounaki-Dracaki

- Heights and Nutritional Status in Greece 408

Bernard Harris

- Gender, Height and Mortality in Nineteenth- and Twentieth-Century
Britain: Some Preliminary Reflections 413

Markus Heintel, Lars G. Sandberg and Richard H. Steckel

- Swedish Historical Heights Revisited: New Estimation Techniques and Results 449

Joaquim da Costa Leite

- Male Height in Northwest Portugal in the 1890s: old data revisited 459

Jesper L. Boldsen and Jes Søgaard

- A History of Height in Denmark 467

Holle Greil

- Age- and sex-specificity of the secular trend of height in East Germany 483

Sally Horrocks and David Smith

- Implications of the History of Medicine for the History of Diet and Body Dimensions 497

Philip T. Hoffman

- Agricultural Productivity and the Food Supply in France, 1500–1815 509

Joerg Baten and John Komlos

- Conclusion: The Biological Standard of Living in Comparative Perspective 526