Contents

Contributors ix
Acknowledgements xiii
Editors xv
Preface xvii

Part I: The Business Context 1

How E-Learning Businesses Meet Client and End User Needs:
Analysing the Collaborative Contexts 3
DAVID RUSSELL, DAVID CALVEY & MARK BANKS

Business Process, Experience and Memory: Educational Approaches
and Technology Tools for a Global Workforce 19
DANIEL M. CARCHIDI & DAVID J. MCCARTHY
Part II: Challenges for the Academy 41

From High Level Clarity to Ground Level Confusion: Exactly Where do IT-Mediated Education Policies Fit? 43
STEPHEN D. REEVE & STEPHEN H. FLOWERS

Moving a University Toward On-line Learning: Opportunities, Challenges, and Technologies 61
DREW PARKER & ANDREW GEMINO

Linking Pedagogical Innovation and Information Technology to Enhance Business Education 77
SERGIO VASQUEZ BRONFMAN

The Experience of Self-Organized Learning Through the Use of Learning Plans for Knowledge Management 93
VIVIEN LEE LOOI CHNG & STEVEN COOMBS

Part III: Team and Collaborative Learning 111

Using Student Consulting Team Assignments as a Vehicle to Teach a Systems Development Course 113
SYLNOVIE MERCHANT

Using Team Learning in the Classroom: Experiences and Lessons 129
LEROY F. CHRIST, MARY Y. CHRIST, A. STEVEN GRAHAM, MICHAEL K. MCCUDDY & WENDY L. PIRIE

Using Teams in the Classroom: Meeting the Challenge of Evaluating Students’ Work 147
MICHAEL K. MCCUDDY & WENDY L. PIRIE

International Management: Early Experience in Multicultural Virtual Team Interaction 161
KEN MORSE
Part IV : Problem Based Learning

PRAXIS: A Practice-Based Instructional System in the First Year of an Industrial Engineering Program
WILLEM M. VAN WOERDEN & NYNKE JO SMIT

Using the Web for Problem-Based Learning
NYNKE JO SMIT, MAARTEN VAN RIEMSDIJK & JAN VAN DER VEEEN

Effects of Problem-Based Learning in Business Education: A Comparison Between a PBL and a Conventional Educational Approach
PIET VAN DEN BOSSCHE, MIEN SEGERS, DAVID GIJBELS & FILIP DOCHY

Learning about Teaching Information Systems in a Problem-Based Curriculum: An Exploratory Study of the Impact of Students’ Individual Differences on their Conception and Perception of Problem Tasks
JAN NIJHUIS, MIEN SEGERS & WIM GIJSELAERS

Part V : Distance and On Line Learning

The Use of a Virtual Learning Environment to Support Learners on Work-Based Learning Programs
LEN BIRD

Distance Learning: The Experience of Accounting at the University of Natal (Durban), South Africa
ANTHONY B. LUMBY & ADRIAN D. SAVILLE

Creating and Improving a “Virtual Object” Through Web-Mediated Discourse
GORDON WELLS

Testing Social Information Processing Theories in Distance Education
WM. BENJAMIN MARTZ, JR. & MORGAN M. SHEPHERD
PART VI: Specific Applications of Learning Technology

Electronic Tutorial for Moral Reasoning in Business Education:
A Technological Learning Tool to Facilitate Students’
Moral Reasoning
MARGARITA ALEMÁN VARGAS

The Five Key Benefits of On-line Final Examinations
(with Three Free Bonus Benefits)
JEREMY B. WILLIAMS

Assertion-Reason Assessment in Formative and Summative Tests:
Results from Two Graduate Case Studies
LUKE B. CONNELLY

Exploring the Implications of Videoconferencing for Management
Learning
VIVIEN HODGSON & MIREIA ASENSIO

Index