

Contents

Tables and figures	viii
Glossary	ix
Orthographic note	xi
Acknowledgements	xii
Introduction	1
A woman's perspective	7
1 The neighbourhood and its people	12
Sitiwaru's uncertain past	16
A demographic portrait	20
Religion in Sitiwaru	21
Education	26
2 Income, work and property	29
Income levels and differentials	30
The work force	32
Division of labour	33
Private property: land and houses	37
Businesses	38
Property: household possessions	41
Property and tenancy	44
3 Kampung government and kampung women	50
Local government	50
The functional sections	53
Funding sources	55
The Women's Section	56
The Family Welfare Development Program (PKK)	58

	The PKK structure in Yogyakarta	60
4	Kampung women and the family welfare movement	64
	The PKK ward-kampung juncture	64
	Two types of meetings: PKK at ward and kampung levels	67
	PKK leaders at and near the grassroots	70
	Evaluations of the grassroots from 'on high'	72
	Reshaping development programs and old customs	76
	PKK: no path to female power!	80
5	The small politics of everyday life	83
	Female-centred kampung cells	87
	Patron-client relations and cell organisation	89
	Cell membership and insider status	90
	Cell life on the private benches	91
	A safe place to share tales and secrets	95
	Cell life and domestic violence	96
	Inter-cell life on the public benches	98
	Female neighbourhood politics	100
	Paradoxes in female politics	103
	Fear and affection: mechanisms of female control	104
	Cell politics in the formal official domain	105
6	Families	109
	Different but equal ideology	111
	Hearthholds and households	115
	The nuclear family: the modern ideal	117
	Single-parent families	118
	Other types of families	120
7	Wives and others: the gender ideology of modernity	126
	Women's role in development	127
	Wife and husband: an official gender distinction	132
8	Mothers and fathers: kampung gender ideology	140
	Mother and father: a communal gender distinction	141
	Dualism in theory and practice	147
9	Communal ritual and gender divisions	154
	The core Javanese ritual	154
	Rewang + kenduren = slametan	156
	No way to power! Women's ritual work	158
	Rewang networks	159
	Rewang and the hidden economy	163
	An exemplary gotong royong practice	164
	Rewang and the exchange of gifts	167

Slametan: a guide to the subordination of women	170
Conclusion	173
Endnotes	188
Bibliography	195
Index	204

Tables and figures

Tables

1.1	Male-female immigration patterns	18
1.2	Male and female education	27
2.1	Male-female monthly income	31
2.2	Women and men in the work force	32
2.3	Household possessions	42
4.1	Ward Kalasan PKK projects	65
4.2	Sitiwaru Women's Section projects	66
6.1	Household types, sizes and food expenditure	117
9.1	Gotong royong practices identified by women	164

Figures

1.1	Plan of Sitiwaru
2.1	Household locations	14
2.2	Property ownership and tenancy arrangements	36
3.1	RK Sitiwaru government structure	46
3.2	Women's Section structure	51
5.1	Cells at the benches	63
8.1	Four worlds of Sitiwaru	101
9.1	Rewang network	148
		160