

Contents

Contributors to Volume 3	ix
1. Introduction	1
Charles J. de Wolff
2. Personnel Selection: Principles, Models and Techniques	5
Robert A. Roe
Introduction	5
Prediction of work performance	11
Decision making on a job and career	17
Principles of decision making	18
Clinical methods	23
Conclusion	29
3. The Selection Process	33
Charles J. de Wolff and Giel van den Bosch
Introduction	33
Effectiveness	34
Dignity	36
Discrimination	38
Problems with the prediction paradigm	40
The orientation of organizational consultants	45
Other approaches to personnel selection	46
Professional developments	52
The selection psychologist's rôle	53
Why a psychological examination?	54
Personnel selection in the future	54
Review and conclusions	55
4. Personnel Appraisal	59
Pieter J.D. Drenth
Introduction	59
The goals of employee appraisals	60
What should be appraised?	64

Criteria for appraisal systems	68
Systems	71
Conclusion	80
5. Assessment Centre Methods	89
Jac N. Zaal
Introduction	89
Why assessment centres? Use and efficiency of alternative selection methods	89
History	92
Features, method and applications	93
Evaluation: acceptance, reliability and validity	107
Conclusion: further research	117
6. Task Characteristics	123
Jen A. Algera
Introduction	123
Social context	123
Scientific background	124
The JCM as an intervention strategy for job (re)design	135
Conclusions	137
7. Job Analysis	141
Jen A. Algera and Martin A.M. Greuter
Introduction	141
Job analysis and its uses	141
Subjects of job analysis	143
Collecting information in job analysis	146
Applications	151
Conclusion	162
8. Job Evaluation	165
Henk Thierry and John R. de Jong
Introduction	165
Applying JE	166
Uses of JE	172
Reliability and validity	177
Conclusion	180
9. Theoretical, Practical and Organizational Issues Affecting Training	185
Gary P. Latham, Zeeva Millman and Henriette Miedema
Introduction	185
Theory	186
Practical concerns	193

Organizational issues	196
Research gaps	200
Conclusion	202
10. Work Socialization of Young People	207
Jan A. Feij
Introduction	207
Socialization with regard to work: stages, processes variables	211
Anticipatory socialization	220
The entry into the working environment	226
Outcomes of the socialization process	241
Conclusion	245
11. Management Development	257
Gary P. Latham and Gerard H. Seijts
Introduction	257
Management education	258
Course delivery	260
Conclusion	266
12. Career Development and Career Guidance	273
Johannes Gerrit Boerlijst
Introduction	273
Careers as a problem in organizations	274
Career psychology	277
Definitions of concepts	283
Facets of the concept "career"	284
Influencing of careers in the practical situation	287
Some developments to be expected	290
13. Participative Management	297
Paul L. Koopman and André F.M. Wierdsma
Introduction	297
Why participative management?	298
Forms of participative management	301
Effects of participative management	303
A model for participative management	308
Relationship to organizational structure	310
The relationship to organizational culture	312
A question of policy	317
14. Negotiation	325
Evert van de Vliert and Willem F.G. Mustenbroek
Introduction	325
Basic assumptions	325
Types of negotiation	326

Claim negotiations	327
Trade negotiations	333
Representative negotiations	338
Conclusion	345
15. Conflict and Conflict Management	351
Evert van de Vliert
Introduction	351
Points of departure	351
Escalation model	352
Antecedent conditions	353
Conflict issues	356
De-escalative conflict management	357
Escalative conflict management	363
Use of the model	369
16. Women and Work	377
Marlies Ott
Introduction	377
What work is done by women?	378
Determinants of working behaviour	384
The division of work according to sex	390
Tasks for work and organizational psychology	392
17. Work and Health Psychology: Methods of Intervention	395
Jacques A.M. Winnubst and René F.W. Diekstra
Introduction	395
Work, health and welfare: legislation	396
A framework: the work stress approach	397
The importance of diagnostics	399
Towards a multi-disciplinary approach	399
Prevention or cure?	400
The work and health psychologist as consultant in preventive intervention	400
Curative interventions by the work and health psychologist	403
Conclusion	406
Author Index	409
Subject Index	421