

Contents

List of Plates

xvii

Part I. Introduction

1. Was There a Cultural Revolution c.1958–c.1974? 3
  - Nostalgia, Prejudice, and Debate 3
  - Characteristics of a Unique Era 16
  - Sources and Methods 20
2. If So, Why? 23
  - Problems of Explanation 23
  - The Four Countries and their National Peculiarities 26
  - Convergence and the Forces of Change 36

Part II. The First Stirrings of a Cultural Revolution, 1958–1963

3. New Actors, New Activities 41
  - The Common Currency of Change 41
  - ‘Your Teenager Is Big Business’: ‘The Disaffection of the Growing Generation’ 45
  - The Knitting Together of British Youth Subculture 55
  - Affluence, Sex, and the Environment 80
  - Blousons Noirs, Copains, Vitelloni*: Youth in France and Italy 95
4. Art, Morality, and Social Relations 112
  - Reflecting Change—and Reinforcing It 112
  - The British ‘New Wave’ 118
  - Literary Censorship 143
  - New Modes in American, French, and Italian Novels 149
  - ‘Movies Have Suddenly Become More “Frank”, “Adult”, or “Dirty” ’ 173
  - The Explosion of Art 181
5. Race 194
  - The American South 194
  - The North as well as the South, and the West, too 217
  - Europe 229

Part III. The High Sixties, 1964–1969

6. Acts of God and Acts of Government	247
Structural Imperatives	247
The Great Society, the Civilized Society, and Other Places	259
Class and Education Systems	272
7. 'Pushing Paradigms to Their Utmost Limits' or 'Creative Extremism': Structuralism, Conceptualism, and Indeterminacy	288
North American Gurus and Left-Bank Luminaries: 'Repressive Tolerance', the 'Global Village', and 'the Death of the Author'	288
Art, Poetry, Music, and Architecture of the High Sixties	316
Experimental Theatre: Mighty Atom of Change	340
8. Affluence, Poverty, Permissiveness	359
'Mod Cons' and Consumerism in Italy and France	359
Poverty in the United States	370
Family and Other Affairs	381
9. Beauty, Booze, and the Built Environment	404
The Truth about Beauty	404
Pick-Me-Ups and Pick-Ups	433
Pedestrian Precincts and Swinging City Centres	442
10. National and Other Identities	455
Les Années Anglaises?	455
Hippies, Yippies, and other Beings	479
British and American 'Progressives' and 'Do-Gooders'	498
Windows on the Nations	507
11. Freedom, Turbulence, and Death	533
Confrontation and Violence	533
Free Speech and Vietnam	536
Italy, France, and Britain	546
Civil Rights and Urban Riots in the USA	563
12. 1968 (and 1969)	584
1968: A Date to Remember?	584
Italy Hots Up: November 1967–April 1968	586
The Events in Paris	602
Italy, 1968–1969: The 'Hot Autumn'	618
Echoes from the Storm: Great Britain	632
America's Annus Horribilis	642

Part IV. Everything Goes, and Catching Up, 1969–1974

13. Women's Turn	679
From Civil Rights and Student Protest to Women's Liberation and Fundamentalist Feminism	679
The Battles Over Contraception and Abortion	700
Divorce and Equal Rights	716
14. Full Effrontery	725
Gay Liberation	725
Uncut Film and Surrealism in Art	732
Bullets, Bombs, and a Break-in	744
15. Living Life to the Full	758
Incomes and Aspirations	758
Who Cares?	770
Going Out	792

Part V. Conclusion

16. The Consummation of a Cultural Revolution	801
Notes	807
Note on Sources	859
Index	873