

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Part 1 Introduction
Questions on youth unemployment, identity formation and policy Martijn de Goede, Peter de Klaver, Johan van Ophem, Kees Verhaar and Arend de Vries	1
Part 2 Youth: Educational and occupational careers
1 Resisting youth unemployment The role of education and training John Bynner	13
2 Starting underemployed careers How young people are marginalised in English and German labour markets Alan Brown and Martina Behrens	31
Part 3 Youth: Work, unemployment and identity
3 Unemployment, psychological well-being and identity development in adolescence Wim Meeus and Maja Deković	49
4 On the heterogeneity of the experience of long-term unemployment among young women Hans de Witte and Johan Wets	65

5	The effects of father's unemployment on school careers and values of the children Anton Derks, Mark Elchardus, Ignace Glorieux and Koen Pelleriaux	87
6	Family relations and youth unemployment Ed Spruijt and Martijn de Goede	107
7	Looking for culture in the labour market An attempt to identify the influence of local culture on the functioning of a youth training scheme Kees Verhaar	119
8	Regional identity and work-related attitudes of youth in Friesland Martijn de Goede, Lammert Jansma and Johan van Ophem	139
Part 4 Youth unemployment: Training schemes and their effects
9	Youth training: skills demand versus customer choice Mike Campbell and Liam Murphy	159
10	Youth Training Schemes in the Walloon Region of Belgium A microeconomic evaluation Benoît Mahy and Victor Vandeville	173
11	Workfare: emancipation or marginalisation? Henk Spies	191
12	Frisian Employment Service and the implementation of JWG and Banenpool Eef Bruinsma, Peter de Klaver and Anna Tiemersma	213