

Contents

List of figures and tables	ix
The contributors	xi
Foreword Barbara Kahan	xv
Preface	xvii
Part I: Current issues in child protection
Introduction	3
1 Considering social difference Richard Pugh	7
2 Gender expectations and child protection practice Jill Forrest	25
3 Rethinking practice: Learning from a black feminist perspective Andrea Cropper	31
4 Researching the effects of child abuse Lester Parrott	43
5 Two decades of progress: An international review of child protection services Colin Pritchard	57

- 6 A parents' view of partnership 75
Brian Corby and Malcolm Millar

Part II: Children who hurt

- Introduction 89
- 7 Children who sexually abuse other children 91
Anne Bannister and Eileen Gallagher
- 8 Terror and the Stockholm syndrome: The relevance for abused children 103
Celia Doyle
- 9 Responding to loss 115
Neil Thompson
- 10 The psychological effects of trauma on children 127
Jeanie McIntee and Ian Crompton
- 11 Listening to children: Appreciating the abused child's reality 143
Madge Bray and Richard Pugh
- 12 Short-term focused groupwork for young male abusers 157
Alix Brown and Jackie Jennings
- 13 The groupwork support of sexually abused boys 171
Andrew Durham

Part III: The staff dimension

- Introduction 189
- 14 Emotionally competent child protection organizations:
Fallacy, fiction or necessity? 193
Tony Morrison
- 15 Men, masculinity and childcare 213
John Bates
- 16 Risk assessment in residential childcare 229
Malcolm Jordan

17	Foster carers: Clients or colleagues in child protection? Val Capewell	237
18	Delivering staff care in a multidisciplinary context Michael Murphy	249
	Index	259

List of figures and tables

Figures

10.1	McIntee's model of trauma and its impact on child development	129
10.2	The trauma process	134
10.3	The self-abuse cycle	138
14.1	Dysfunctional Learning Cycle	202
14.2	Family-agency care/control conflict model	202
14.3	Sexual Abuse Accommodation Syndrome	204
14.4	Professional Accommodation Model	205
14.5	Functional Learning Cycle	207

Tables

5.1	Numbers of child deaths in England and Wales, 1973–1992	62
5.2	Homicides and undetermined deaths, 1973–1982 v. 1983–1992	63
5.3	Baby, infant and child (5–14 years) homicide in England and Wales and other industrial countries, 1973/74 to 1991/92 (rates per million population)	65