

Contents

Introduction	1
--------------	---

Part One

Freud

1 Freud and Hasidism, Dan Merkur	11
2 Freud, Maimonides, and Incest, David Bakan	23
3 Freud as Other: Anti-Semitism and the Development of Psychoanalysis, Janet Liebman Jacobs	28
4 Psychoanalysis and Fundamentalism: A Lesson from Feminist Critiques of Freud, Ralph W. Hood Jr.	42

Part Two

Psychoanalysis and the Second-Generation Theorists

5 Karen Horney's Encounter with Zen, Marcia Westkott	71
6 Melanie Klein, Motherhood, and the "Heart of the Heart of Darkness," Patricia H. Davis	90
7 Playing and Believing: The Uses of D. W. Winnicott in the Psychology of Religion, James W. Jones	106
8 Childhood Fears, Adult Anxieties, and the Longing for Inner Peace: Erik H. Erikson's Psychoanalytic Psychology of Religion, Donald Capps	127

Part Three

Contemporary Psychoanalytic Perspectives

9 Heinz Kohut's Struggles with Religion, Ethnicity, and God, Charles B. Strozier	165
10 Creating a New Research Paradigm for the Psychoanalytic Study of Religion: The Pioneering Work of Ana-Maria Rizzuto, John McDargh	181

11	Alice Miller's Insights into Religious Seekership, Marion S. Goldman	200
12	Illusions with Futures: Jacques Lacan, William James Earle	218
13	God and Lacanian Psychoanalysis: Toward a Reconsideration of the Discipline of Religious Studies, Carl Raschke	230
14	Julia Kristeva and the Psychoanalytic Study of Religion: Rethinking Freud's Cultural Texts, Diane Jonte-Pace	240
	About the Book and Editors	269
	About the Contributors	271
	Index	273