

Contents

Part I: Historical and theoretical issues

André M. Weitzenhoffer
Erickson and the unity of hypnotism	1
Jeffrey K. Zeig
Direct and indirect methods: Artifact and essence	17
Erika Fromm
An ego psychological theory of hypnosis and the research evidence supporting it	31
Franz Christian Kinzel
Freud between Breuer and Bernheim: Some comments on the origins of psychoanalysis	45
Peter W. Sheehan
Imagery and its complex relationship to effects	53
Ernest Lawrence Rossi
The chronobiological theory of therapeutic suggestion: Towards a mathematical model of Erickson's naturalistic approach	63
André M. Weitzenhoffer
Catalepsy tests: Their implications for a science of hypnotism	87

Part II: Clinical issues and applications

Erika Fromm
Ethics and values in hypnosis and hypnotherapy	101
Peter B. Bloom
Finding one's voice: The art and process of becoming a therapist	109

Camillo Loriedo
Minimal cues in diagnosis and in the hypnotherapeutic process	119
Brian Fellows and Lucy Ragg
The effects of cognitive skill training on hypnotic responsiveness	129
Karl Fuchs, Itzhak Zaidise, and Bezalel A. Peretz
Ericksonian approach to male impotence	135
Moris Kleinhauz , and Zahava Solomon
The Yom Kippur War revisited - Part 1: Clinical description and therapeutic interventions of combat stress reactions	145
Zahava Solomon, and Moris Kleinhauz
The Yom Kippur War revisited - Part 2: War induced psychic trauma An 18 year follow-up of Israeli veterans	153
Shaul Livnay
The issues involved in using a gong in psychotherapy and hypnotherapy	167
Burkhard Peter
Hypnosis and psychotherapy with HIV, ARC and AIDS patients	181
List of contributors	207