

Contents

Preface	page	ix
1 Introduction: problems of Structure and Action		1
2 Discovering truth: the rationalist way		23
3 Positive science: the empiricist way		40
4 Ants, Spiders and Bees: a third way?		66
5 Systems and functions		94
6 Games with Rational Agents		115
7 Understanding social action		142
8 Self and roles		163
9 Explaining and understanding		183
10 A value-neutral social science?		202
11 Rationality and relativism		224
12 Conclusion: two stories to tell		248
Bibliography		261
Index		266