PART ONE

THE PRAGMATICS AND HERMENEUTICS OF CONCEPTUAL CHANGE

|  |    |
|--|----|
| CHAPTER 1. PROLOGUE: THE CORRESPONDENCE PRINCIPLE .....        | 3  |
| 1.1 A heuristic principle .....                                | 3  |
| 1.2 Reduction and the continuity of scientific change.....     | 5  |
| 1.3 Continuity challenged.....                                 | 8  |
| 1.4 Kuhn on continuity .....                                   | 10 |
| 1.5 Kuhn on translation .....                                  | 11 |
| 1.6 Kuhn's tension.....  | 13 |
| 1.7 Kuhn's tension removed.....                                | 17 |
| 1.8 On the continuity of conceptual change .....               | 18 |
| CHAPTER 2. TRANSLATION .....                                   | 21 |
| 2.1 Principles of interpretation .....                         | 22 |
| 2.2 On the standard view of translation.....                   | 26 |
| 2.3 Local translation and speech acts .....                    | 27 |
| 2.4 Explanatory and corrective translation .....               | 31 |
| CHAPTER 3. EXAMPLES AND APPLICATIONS OF LOCAL TRANSLATION..... | 38 |
| 3.1 Local translation and explanation.....                     | 38 |
| 3.2 Metaphors .....  | 50 |
| 3.3 Perception.....  | 53 |
| 3.4 On conceptual change in art .....                          | 58 |

|  |           |
|--|-----------|
| CHAPTER 4. GLOBAL TRANSLATION ..... | 61 |
| 4.1 Translation and literary works .....   | 61        |
| 4.2 Stories as utterances .....            | 66        |
| 4.3 Truth in a story .....                 | 67        |
| 4.4 Narrative texts and satisfaction.....  | 69        |

PART TWO

THE LOGIC AND PRAGMATICS OF SCIENTIFIC CHANGE

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| CHAPTER 5. THE CORRESPONDENCE RELATION .....       | 79  |
| 5.1 The correspondence of theories .....                  | 80         |
| 5.2 Narrative correspondence .....                        | 82         |
| 5.3 Correspondence and formal theories .....              | 84         |
| 5.4 The correspondence of logics .....                    | 86         |
| 5.5 Counterfactual and limiting case correspondence ..... | 87         |
| 5.6 Approximate correspondence.....                       | 90         |
| 5.7 Correspondence and symmetries.....                    | 91         |
| 5.8 Correspondence and definability .....                 | 96         |
| 5.9 Correspondence vs. classical reduction.....           | 98         |
| 5.10 Translation and emergence.....                       | 100        |
| CHAPTER 6. INTERTHEORETIC EXPLANATION.....         | 109 |
| 6.1 The role of pragmatic constraints .....               | 110        |
| 6.2 Correspondence and explanation.....                   | 111        |
| 6.3 Glymour on counterfactual explanation .....           | 114        |
| 6.4 Counterfactual explanation and correspondence .....   | 116        |
| 6.5 Two examples.....                                     | 121        |
| 6.6 Explaining and understanding scientific change .....  | 124        |
| 6.7 Understanding and the context of discovery .....      | 127        |

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| 6.8 Explanation and reduction in mathematics.....      | 129 |
| 6.9 Correspondence and the explanation of logics ..... | 132 |

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| CHAPTER 7. CASE STUDIES.....                                       | 135 |
| 7.1 Classical particle mechanics and relativistic particle mechanics..... | 136        |
| 7.2 Kepler's laws and Newtonian gravitation .....                         | 140        |
| 7.3 Classical mechanics and quantum mechanics .....                       | 142        |
| 7.4 The phlogiston theory and modern chemistry .....                      | 146        |
| 7.5 Correspondence in cognitive science .....                             | 150        |
| 7.6 Modal logic and classical logic .....                                 | 182        |

PART THREE

THE FORMAL BASIS OF THE CORRESPONDENCE RELATION

|  |            |
|--|------------|
| CHAPTER 8. THEORIES AND LOGICS .....  | 187 |
| 8.1 Logic and applications: problems.....  | 187        |
| 8.2 Theories and the abstract notion of logic.....   | 194        |
| 8.3 Carnap's program: a historical digression .....  | 199        |
| 8.4 Counterfactual conditionals.....   | 205        |
| 8.5 Symmetries as categories.....  | 209        |
| 8.6 Nonstandard analysis.....  | 210        |
| 8.7 Standard and nonstandard models of a theory .....                                      | 213        |
| 8.8 Models of analysis .....   | 215        |
| CHAPTER 9. A FORMAL TREATMENT OF CASE STUDIES .....                                 | 220 |
| 9.1 The correspondence of classical to relativistic particle mechanics .....               | 221        |
| 9.2 Curie's principle for correspondence in particle mechanics.....                        | 230        |
| 9.3 The correspondence of the Turing representation to thenetwork representation ..... | 235        |

|  |            |
|--|------------|
| APPENDIX. DEFINABILITY .....      | 245 |
| A.1 Traditional aspects .....            | 245        |
| A.2 Definitions as speech acts .....     | 248        |
| A.3 The logical account.....             | 250        |
| A.4 Undefinability and uncertainty ..... | 255        |
| A.5 Model-theoretic definability .....   | 256        |
| A.6 Conditions on defintions.....        | 258        |
| A.7 Why are definitions needed? .....    | 263        |
|                                      |            |
| NOTES .....                       | 269 |
|                                      |            |
| BIBLIOGRAPHY .....                | 287 |
|                                      |            |
| NAME INDEX.....                   | 297 |
