Table of Contents

Chapter 1: Europe

Intercultural Conflict and Synergy in Europe 1
Geert Hofstede

Culture: The National Component 1
National Cultures in Four Dimensions 2
European Heterogeneity 3
Origins of Intra-European Cultural Differences 5
European Cooperation as a Laboratory for the World 7
References 8

Chapter 2: Belgium

Management and Culture in a Pillared Society 9
Albert L. Mok

Does Belgium Exist? 9
Resourceful Survivors 10
The Ethnic Split 10
History of Belgium 11
  History of Flanders 12
A Deep Recession (1880–1900) 13
Belgian Industrial Structure 14
  Three Stages 16
  Local Politics 17
  Foreign Takeovers 17
  Industrial Relations 18
Pillarization 19
An Example: The Bekaert Group 20
Management Culture 21
Conclusion 23
References 23

Chapter 3: Denmark

Egalitarianism at Work: Management in Denmark 27
Egil Fivelsdal and Iette Schramm-Nielsen

Introduction 27

Danish Managers and Their Shared Values 27
Egalitarianism 28
Consensus and Cooperation 31
Professionalism 32
Aspects of Danish Society 33
Politics and Interest Groups 36
Aspects of Education 38
From Squirearchy to Social Welfare 41
Concluding Remarks 43
References 44

Chapter 4: England

English Culture and Business Organizations 47
Monir Tayeb

Introduction 47
Societal Culture 47
England—The Country 47
England—The Culture 48
Organizationally-relevant Attitudes and Values 50
Individualism 50
Deference and Inequality 52
Self-control and Reserve 52
Conservatism 52
Xenophobia 53
Honesty and Trust 53
Liberty 54
Class Consciousness 54
How Do the English Compare With Other Western Europeans? 55
Political System 56
Economic Context 56
The Resulting Business Climate and Approach to Management 57
Attitudes Towards Industry and Business 57
Trade Unions 58
Them and Us 59
English Business and 1992 59
English Managers and Organizations 60
Concluding Remarks 62
References 63

Chapter 5: France

Management in France 65
Arndt Sorge

France on a European Map 65
Mapping Work-related Attitudes 68
Organizing and Managing 74
Human Resources 79
Industrial Relations 83
Summary 86
References 87

Chapter 6: Germany

German Management 89
Malcolm Warner and Adrian Campbell

Introduction 89
The Role of German Culture 90
German Industrial Performance 91
A German Model of Management? 93
Economics and Regulation 93
Technology and Management 95
Product Focus or Marketing Focus? 96
The Manager as Specialist 97
  Education of Senior Managers 98
  Remuneration 99
  Expert Knowledge and Managerial Authority 99
German Management and "Post-Fordism" 100
  "Organizational Shamelessness" 101
"Technik" 101
  Innovation in Traditional Sectors 103
  Simplicity and Narrowness of Focus 104
  Shop-Floor Training 104
Conclusion 105
References 106

Chapter 7: Greece

Management in Greece 109
James Georgas

Introduction 109
History 111
Geographical Features 112

Organization and Institutions of the Society 113
Economic Organization 113
Political Institutions and the Legal System 114
The Educational System 116
Religion 117
Communications 117
Bonds with Groups in the Immediate Community 118
The Family System 119
Conclusions and Prospects for the Future 121
References 123

Chapter 8: Ireland

Managing the Economy of a Newly Independent State 125
Brian Leavy

Introduction 125
The Modern Irish State since 1922 126
Self-sufficient, Inward-looking and Traditional—The First 40 Years 127
Change and Modernity—Ireland in the 1960s 129
Ireland in Europe—1972 to the Present 131
Profiles of Irish Organizations 133
Co-operatives 133
State-owned Enterprises 136
Public Limited Companies 139
The Public Bureaucracy 141
Irish Distinctiveness? 143
References 147

Chapter 9: Italy

Aspects of Italian Management 149
Pasquale Gagliardi and Barry A. Turner

The Broad-based Pyramid of Italian Industry 149
Some Background 150
The Family and the Enterprise 151
The Large Enterprises 153
The Small Enterprises 155
The Constellation and Flexible Specialization 156
Management of the Organization 160
Concluding Comments 163
References 164

Chapter 10: The Netherlands

Open Doors, Closed Circles: Management and Organization in the Netherlands 167
Nic van Dijk and Maurice Punch

Conflicting Images 167
Dutch Society 170
The Dutch Economy 173
Industrial Relations 179
Managing Within Margins 182
Motivation 183
Management 185
Conclusion 188
References 188

Chapter 11: Portugal

Management in Portugal 191
Afonso Pereira Inacio and David Weir

Portugal, a Developing Country 191
Historical and Psycho-sociological Aspects of Portuguese Society 194
The Historical Evolution of Management in Portugal 197
The Period before the Portuguese Revolution of 25 April 1974 197
The Period from 25 April to 1986 199
The Period after 1986 200
A Review 201
The Resistance to Change of the Current Generation of Portuguese Leaders 202
References 203

Chapter 12: Spain

The Revolution from Outside: Spanish Management and the Challenges of Modernization 205
Max H. Boisot

Introduction 205
The Nations versus the State 206
Industrialization 209
The Managerial Environment 212
Managerial Culture 219
Conclusion 225
References 227

Chapter 13: Sweden

A Modern Project, a Postmodern Implementation 229
Barbara Czarniawska-Joerges

Meetings Between Strangers 229
Sweden for Foreigners 231
Europa ante portas 233
The Demise of the Swedish Model 234
The Swedish Quality: Reason, Consensus and Reform 236
A "Swedish Management Style"? 236
A Change of Doctrine 237
The Wonderland of Reforms 238
The Swedish Public Sector: In Search of an Identity 239
An Organizational Identity 240
Tentative Identities in a Blurred Field 240
"Informalization" 242
A Museum of Modernity or a Pragmatist Paradise? 243
References 245

Chapter 14:

Many More Ways Than One 249
David Hickson

Diversity 249
Country and Culture 251
Implicit Theory 252
Empires and Cultures 254
Europeanness 258
Simply Speaking 261
References 262

Notes on Contributors 263

Subject Index 269

Name Index 285