

Contents

	Series editor's preface	vii
	Preface	xi
1	Redefining the poor	1
	Class and continuity	5
	Reshaping social policy	12
	Capitalism and poverty	17
	Poverty as a social relation	24
	The truth about 'the underclass'	26
	Common sense	31
2	Impoverishing the poor	34
	The unemployment divide	39
	The earnings divide	43
	The employment divide	48
	A servile workforce	52
	Changing social security	56
	Young people	63
	The unemployed	66
	A rock and a hard place	70
3	The abuse of the poor	73
	Policing	74
	Counting for nothing	76
	More civilised methods	78
	Abusive social security	91
	Demonising dependency	94
	Cheats and liars	95
	The new vitriol	100

4	The vile maxim of the masters	108
	Constructing social policy	113
	Remoralising the poor	116
	Social reform	118
	Social democracy	123
	The welfare state	131
	The neo-liberal project	133
5	Re-tooling the state	139
	Getting the state out of politics	141
	A necessary compromise	144
	Taking on the mandarins	145
	Public misery, private gain	147
	Unaccountable bodies	151
	Taming the 'new class'	154
	A permanent revolution	158
	The abandonment of reason	164
	Towards a penal state	168
6	Abandoning the poor	176
	The third way	177
	Embracing capitalism	181
	The appeal of Middle England	185
	Born in the USA	188
	From welfare to work	196
	Tough choices and no alternatives	199
	References and bibliography	203
	Index	213