

Contents

Preface	vii
Introduction Kenneth M. Holland	1
Part I Environmental Policymaking: The Constitutional Division of Powers	17
1 The Constitutional Division of Powers with Respect to the Environment in the United States Edward A. Fitzgerald	19
2 The Constitutional Division of Powers with Respect to the Environment in Canada F. L. Morton	37
3 The Constitutional Division of Powers with Respect to the Environment in Australia Cheryl Saunders	55
Part II Intergovernmental Relations and Environmental Protection	77
4 Intergovernmental Costs and Coordination in U.S. Environmental Protection John Kincaid	79

5	Intergovernmental Relations and the Politics of Environmental Protection in Canada Grace Skogstad	103
6	Thinking Globally and Acting Federally: Intergovernmental Relations and Environmental Protection in Australia Aynsley Kellow	135
Part III Environmental Policymaking: The Role of the Courts		157
7	The Role of the Courts in the Making and Administration of Environmental Policy in the United States Kenneth Holland	159
8	Courts, Tribunals, and the Environment in Canada Rainer Knopff and J. E. Glenn	185
9	Environmental Policymaking in Australia: The Role of the Courts Georgina Lynch and Brian Galligan	205
Index		225
About the Editors and Contributors		229