

CONTENTS

List of Figures	x
List of Tables	xi
Abbreviations	xii
1. Introduction	1
Cooperative Strategy	1
A Key Theme	4
Focus of the Book	5
Organization of the Book	7
Comparison with Other Books	11
References	13
Part I The Nature of Cooperation
2. Different Perspectives	17
Economics	17
Game Theory	26
Strategic-Management Theory	31
Organization Theory	34
Summary	39
References	41
3. Trust	45
Significance of Trust	45
Trust and Cooperation	47
Trust and Alliance Development	52
Developing Trust	58
Summary	61
References	63
4. Motives	65
Basic Motives	65
External Challenges	69
Internal Needs	73
Summary	80
References	81

Part II Establishing Cooperation

5.	Partner and Form Selection	87
	The Alliance Imperative	87
	Partner Selection	92
	Forms of Cooperation	99
	Summary	110
	References	111
6.	Networks and Virtuality	113
	Network Rationales	113
	Power and Trust	115
	Network Relationships	120
	The Virtual Corporation	126
	Summary	140
	References	141
7.	Negotiation and Valuation	143
	Alliance Negotiation	143
	The Process	150
	Partner-Contribution Valuation	152
	Summary	160
	References	161

Part III Managing Cooperation

8.	General Management	165
	General Management Roles	166
	Generating and Maintaining Cooperation	172
	Organization and Alliance Success	176
	Alliance Management Qualities	179
	Summary	181
	References	182
9.	Control	184
	Control as an Issue	184
	The Nature of Alliance Control	187
	Control in Collaborations	194
	The Bases for Control	197
	Control and Performance	203
	Summary	208
	References	209
10.	Human-Resource Management	212
	HRM and Alliance Cultures	213
	Control through HRM	216
	HRM and Organizational Learning	218
	HRM and Alliance Manager Qualities	220

	HRM Issues in Sino-Foreign Joint Ventures	224
	Summary	226
	References	227
11.	Culture	229
	The Nature of Culture	229
	Culture's Relevance to Cooperation	232
	Managing Cultural Diversity	244
	Improving Cultural Fit	249
	Summary	255
	References	256
12.	Emerging Economies	259
	The Importance of Emerging Economies	259
	Key Emerging Economies	260
	Partner Objectives	267
	Specific Management Issues	272
	Summary	277
	References	277
Part IV The Maturing Relationship
13.	Organizational Learning	283
	The Nature of Organizational Learning	283
	Significance to Alliances	287
	Requirements for Organizational Learning	293
	Barriers to Organizational Learning	300
	Forms of Organizational Learning	303
	Management of Organizational Learning	305
	Summary	309
	References	311
14.	The Evolving Alliance	314
	Patterns of Alliance Evolution	314
	Necessary Conditions	323
	Summary	328
	References	329
15.	Conclusion and the Future	331
	An Overview	331
	The Future	341
	References	349
	Appendix. The Case Studies	350
	Index	359

LIST OF FIGURES

1.1	Different combinations of cooperation and competition	3
1.2	The move towards the federated enterprise	5
1.3	Alliance development, as traced through the book	8
3.1	Phases of alliance development and the evolution of trust	56
5.1	The make–buy–ally matrix	91
5.2	The strategic fit–cultural fit matrix	93
5.3	The culture web of a UK clearing bank	97
5.4	The cultural profile	98
5.5	The two fundamental motives for cooperative strategy	102
5.6	Classification of network organizations	105
5.7	A taxonomy of alliance forms	106
6.1	Level of ascending integration of cooperative forms	121
6.2	The typical pattern of communication in a keiretsu	123
6.3	The typical pattern of communication in an equal-partner network	124
6.4	Competition and cooperation do not depend on ownership patterns	135
6.5	Autonomous and systemic innovations require different handling	139
7.1	Possible negotiation outcomes	146
7.2	The managerial grid of negotiating possibilities	147
8.1	Typical net of relationships of an alliance manager	170
9.1	A partner's choice of alliance control policy in the light of contingencies	205
11.1	Four options on the management of cultural diversity in alliances	246
13.1	Organizational learning loops at three levels	287
14.1	A life-cycle model of alliance evolution	318

LIST OF TABLES

6.1	From hierarchies to markets	114
6.2	Illustrative software packages	132
6.3	A comparison of integrated and virtual corporations	134
8.1	General management roles in unitary companies and international joint ventures	168–9
8.2	Significance of partner commitment and cooperation to the success of alliances	175
9.1	A typology of control mechanisms	194
3.1	Levels of organizational learning	285
3.2	Forms of organizational learning in cooperative relationships	303