

Contents

List of figures	page vi
List of tables	viii
Note on references	ix
Acknowledgements	x
Abbreviations	xi
1 Introduction	1
2 Historiographical survey	7
3 Methodological problems	17
4 The social characteristics of the Nazi Party in its formative years, 1919–1923	38
5 The social characteristics of the membership and leadership of the Nazi Party, 1925–1933	45
6 The social characteristics of the membership and leadership of Nazi specialist organisations	57
7 The social geometry of the Nazi electorate, 1928–1933	71
8 Conclusion	78
Bibliography	81
Index	92

Figures

- 1 The occupational status of the membership of the Nazi Party on 30 January 1933 according to the Partei-Statistik page 12
- 2 Kater's alternative models of the social ranking of individuals joining the Nazi Party between 1925 and 1932 26
- 3 The social ranking of the membership of the Nazi Party between 1919 and 1923 according to Madden 40
- 4 The social ranking of individuals joining the Nazi Party between 25 September and 9 November 1923 according to Mühlberger 43
- 5 The social ranking of individuals joining the Nazi Party between 1925 and 1933 according to Madden 47
- 6 The occupational status of individuals joining the Nazi Party between 1925 and 1932 according to Brustein and Falter 48
- 7 The social ranking of individuals in the Nazi Party between 1925 and 1932 according to Mühlberger 49
- 8 The social ranking of the Gauleiter corps in 1933 according to Kater 53
- 9 The social ranking of Nazi candidates in the Reichstag election of July 1932 according to Mühlberger 55
- 10 The social ranking of Nazi deputies elected to the Reichstag in July 1932 according to Mühlberger 56

- | | | |
|----|--|----|
| 11 | The social ranking of the membership of the SA enrolled between 1925 and 30 January 1933 according to Fischer and Mühlberger | 62 |
| 12 | The social ranking of the membership of the SS enrolled between 1929 and 30 January 1933 according to Mühlberger | 65 |
| 13 | The social ranking of the leadership of the SA before 1933 according to Jamin | 68 |
| 14 | The class standing of leaders of the General-SS who had joined the SS before 30 January 1933 according to Ziegler | 69 |
| 15 | The social composition of the Nazi electorate in the Reichstag elections from 1928 to 1932 according to Falter | 76 |

Tables

1	Social ranking and occupational distribution according to Kater	page 22
2	Social ranking and occupational distribution according to Madden	23
3	Social ranking and occupational distribution according to Mühlberger	24
4	Social ranking and occupational distribution according to Brustein and Falter	25