

Outline contents

Detailed contents	ix
List of illustrations	xix
List of contributors	xxi
Abbreviations and note on references	xxiii
Introduction: Chaucer today Steve Ellis	1
Part I Historical contexts	7
1 Chaucer's life Ruth Evans	9
2 Society and politics S. H. Rigby	26
3 Nationhood Ardis Butterfield	50
4 London C. David Benson	66
5 Religion Jim Rhodes	81
6 Chivalry Mark Sherman	97
7 Literacy and literary production Stephen Penn	113
8 Chaucer's language: pronunciation, morphology, metre Donka Minkova	130
9 Philosophy Richard Utz	158
10 Science J. A. Tasioulas	174
11 Visual culture David Griffith	190
12 Sexuality Alcuin Blamires	208
13 Identity and subjecthood John M. Ganim	224
14 Love and marriage Bernard O'Donoghue	239

Part II	Literary contexts	253
15	The classical background Helen Cooper	255
16	The English background Wendy Scase	272
17	The French background Helen Phillips	292
18	The Italian background Nick Havely	313
19	The Bible Valerie Edden	332
Part III	Readings	353
20	Modern Chaucer criticism Elizabeth Robertson	355
21	Feminisms Gail Ashton	369
22	The carnivalesque Marion Turner	384
23	Postmodernism Barry Windeatt	400
24	New historicism Sylvia Federico	416
25	Queer theory Glenn Burger	432
26	Postcolonialism Jeffrey J. Cohen	448
27	Psychoanalytic criticism Patricia Clare Ingham	463
Part IV	Afterlife	479
28	Editing Chaucer Elizabeth Scala	481
29	Reception: fifteenth to seventeenth centuries John J. Thompson	497
30	Reception: eighteenth and nineteenth centuries David Matthews	512
31	Reception: twentieth and twenty-first centuries Stephanie Trigg	528
32	Translations Malcolm Andrew	544
33	Chaucer in performance Kevin J. Harty	560
34	Chaucer and his guides Peter Brown	576
Part V	Study resources	593
35	Printed resources Mark Allen	595
36	Electronic resources Philippa Semper	607
	Postscript Julian Wasserman †	621
	Chronology	625
	Index	627

Detailed contents

Detailed contents	ix
List of illustrations	xix
List of contributors	xxi
Abbreviations and note on references	xxiii
Introduction: Chaucer today Steve Ellis	1
Part I Historical contexts	7
1 Chaucer's life Ruth Evans	9
The life	12
Social Chaucer	16
Scandal?	17
Biography as narrative	19
The absent author and the author-function	20
The future of biography?	23
Further reading	23
2 Society and politics S. H. Rigby	26
Society	26
Social ideology: the three orders	26
Social reality: status, class, and gender	27
Plague, population, and economic change	29
Social conflict	32
Chaucer and the social order	35
Politics	38
Edward III, the Hundred Years War, and the deposition of Richard II	38
The descending concept of political authority	40
The ascending concept of political authority	44
Chaucer and politics	45

Conclusion	47
Further reading	48
3 Nationhood Ardis Butterfield	50
England and France: the Hundred Years War	52
Cultural identity: people	56
Cultural identity: language	58
Cultural identity: writing	60
Chaucer's Englishness	63
Further reading	64
4 London C. David Benson	66
London in the late fourteenth century	66
Chaucer's London	70
Chaucer's early poetry	71
Troilus and Criseyde and the 'Knight's Tale'	72
The 'General Prologue' of the Canterbury Tales	74
Chaucer's London tales: 'Canon's Yeoman's Tale' and 'Cook's Tale'	76
Further reading	79
5 Religion Jim Rhodes	81
'What man artow?'	82
'For soothly the lawe of God is the love of God'	83
The Virgin Mary and the communion of saints	89
The forgiveness of sins	91
'The naked text in English to declare'	92
Conclusion	94
Further reading	94
6 Chivalry Mark Sherman	97
The problem of definition	97
Historical origins	98
Imaginary origins	99
Chaucer's problematic chevalier	101
Antiquity and history: the 'Knight's Tale' and Troilus and Criseyde	102
Chivalry and Chaucer's modernity	105
Conclusion	110
Further reading	111
7 Literacy and literary production Stephen Penn	113
Literacy	115

Chaucer's medieval audience	119
The 'Chaucer circle'	121
Manuscript production	124
Further reading	127
8 Chaucer's language: pronunciation, morphology, metre
Donka Minkova	130
Sound–spelling correspondences	131
Stress	138
Morphology	141
Metre	149
Further reading	156
9 Philosophy Richard Utz	158
Education and reading	158
Boethius' Consolation of Philosophy	159
Chaucer and the Consolation of Philosophy	160
Non-Boethian contexts	164
Augustinianism	165
Late medieval literalism	167
Late medieval nominalism	168
Conclusion	171
Further reading	171
10 Science J. A. Tasioulas	174
Astronomy	174
Astrology and horoscopes	176
Planetary influence	179
Medicine	181
Magic	185
Alchemy	186
Conclusion	188
Further reading	188
11 Visual culture David Griffith	190
Iconographic traditions	191
The garden in the 'Merchant's Tale'	196
Marginal images	198
Text and image	201

Portraits and textual authority	203
Further reading	205
12 Sexuality Alcuin Blamires	208
Sexuality by any other name?	209
Sexuality or sexualities?	212
Active and passive	214
Ownership of sexuality	216
Sexualities and nature	218
The burden of sexuality	220
Further reading	222
13 Identity and subjecthood John M. Ganim	224
Individual, self, and subject	224
Mentality, affinity, and association	226
Performance and negotiation	229
Interiority and consciousness	233
Personae and authorial subjecthood	235
Conclusion	237
Further reading	237
14 Love and marriage Bernard O'Donoghue	239
The language of love	239
Chaucer as love-poet	242
Society and marriage	245
Sexuality, marriage, and actual lovers	247
Love, marriage, and Chaucer's texts	249
Further reading	251
 Part II Literary contexts	 253
15 The classical background Helen Cooper	255
Chaucer's classics	256
Ovid without metamorphosis	260
Classical settings	261
The nature of authority	264
Chaucer's poetic claims	267
Further reading	269
16 The English background Wendy Scase	272
Theories and practices of vernacular authorship	273

Versification	275
Manuscript culture	276
Preaching, pardoners, and friars	277
Religious plays and the 'Miller's Tale'	279
Theological and devotional literature	280
Lollardy and the lay reader	282
Religion, vernacularity, the Wife, and the Prioress	283
English romance	285
'Verray lewednesse': 'Sir Thopas', the Franklin, and the Wife	287
Critical traditions and future directions	289
Further reading	290
17 The French background Helen Phillips	292
Cosmopolitan England	293
Chaucer and contemporary French poetry	295
Dream poems: creative responses, interpretative independence	298
Chaucer and French romance	300
Fabliaux	302
The Renart cycle and the 'Nun's Priest's Tale'	303
French readings of Griselda and the 'Clerk's Tale'	303
The 'Man of Law's Tale' and Nicholas Trevet's Chronicle	304
French influence on style and versification	306
Translations	307
'Melibee'	308
Chaucer and the Roman de la Rose	309
Further reading	311
18 The Italian background Nick Havely	313
Latin and Italian	313
Lombards and Tuscans	315
The English in Italy	317
French connections	319
Authors and authority: Dante, Boccaccio, Petrarch	320
Poets and makers	324
On the road and in the garden: the Canterbury Tales and the Decameron	325
'Dante in English'? Six centuries of Chaucer's 'Italian background'	327
Further reading	329
19 The Bible Valerie Edden	332
The composition of the Bible	334

The interpretation of the Bible	335
Biblical translation and the 'plain text': the Wycliffite controversy	338
Chaucer's use of biblical allusions	339
Chaucer and the 'glosing' debate	343
Chaucer's 'biblical poetics'	346
Further reading	349
Part III Readings	353
20 Modern Chaucer criticism Elizabeth Robertson	355
Post-Victorian American criticism	356
Post-Victorian English criticism	361
Post-Second World War critics	362
Later twentieth-century trends	365
Further reading	367
21 Feminisms Gail Ashton	369
Chaucer and feminist readings	371
The Wife as oral construction	373
Departures	375
Alison: noise and sound	376
The repressed feminine	378
Alison as monster	379
Alison: a talking 'queynte'	380
Asserting the feminine	380
Further reading	382
22 The carnivalesque Marion Turner	384
Bakhtin and his readers	384
The carnivalesque in medieval culture	386
Chaucerian carnival	389
The Parliament of Fowls	391
Reading Bakhtin and Chaucer in the twenty-first century	396
Further reading	398
23 Postmodernism Barry Windeatt	400
Cultural belatedness: Chaucer's postmodernity	400
Chaucer and the themes of postmodernism	401
Chaucer and postmodernist forms	403
Magic, or realism, or magical realism?	406

- Figure IV.2 William (Heath Ledger, left) and Chaucer (Paul Bettany) in Brian Helgeland's A Knight's Tale. (Still courtesy of the collection of Kevin J. Harty and reproduced here solely for the purpose of critical analysis.) 569
- Figure IV. 3 A bicycle ride along the pilgrims' route to Canterbury. Illustration by Joseph Pennell in Joseph and Elizabeth Robbins Pennell, A Canterbury Pilgrimage (1885). 583