

CONTENTS

List of Illustrations .....	xi
Preface .....	xiii
Note on Transliteration .....	xv
List of Abbreviations .....	xvii
 Introduction .....	 1
 Chapter One. First Notions of a “Syrian Vision”:
The Period of Amīr Bashīr II .....	11
First Phase: The Rise of the Mountain Middle Stratum ....	12
The Literary Circle .....	28
 Chapter Two. Beirut and the Emergence of a “Syrian Identity”: Christian Arabs as Agents of Change .....	 39
Beirut as an Economic and Cultural Centre of Syria .....	40
Immigration to Beirut .....	45
“Push” Factors .....	45
“Pull” Factors .....	47
Second Phase—The Emergence of the Beirut Middle Stratum and its Characteristics .....	 50
World View of the Beirut Middle Stratum:
The Concept of Tamaddun .....	67
The Beirut Middle Stratum and the Syrian Identity .....	77
 Chapter Three. Re-enforcing an Identity: The Tanzīmāt
Reforms .....	86
A Turning Point— Hatt-ı Hümayun .....	86
The Osmanlılık Principle .....	90
Ottoman Policy toward Syria 1860–1880: The Establishment of the Vilâyet of Syria .....	 95
The Vilâyet of Syria and Local Patriotism: Big Waṭan , Small Waṭan .....	 103
Muḥammad Rāshid Pāshā (1866–1871) .....	104

Tanzīmāt Regressions .....	111
The Vilâyet of Syria between 1871–1878 .....	111
Midhat Pāshā (1878–1880) .....	114
Muslim-Christian Interrelationships: The Beirut Secret Society—Arab Nationalism or Syrian Localism? .....	119
Chapter Four. Revisiting the American Presbyterian Missionaries in Nineteenth Century Syria .....	126
Imagining “Syria” .....	128
Al-Ĵam‘iyya al-Sūriyya li-Iktisāb al-‘Ulūm wal-Funūn (1847–1852) .....	137
Khuṭba fī Ādāb al-‘Arab : A Case Study .....	145
The Nahḍa and the American Missionaries .....	148
From Evangelical Activities to Secular Enterprise: The Syrian Protestant College .....	150
Chapter Five. Narrating an Identity: New Genres, New Identity (1858–1881) .....	155
Characteristics and Goals of the Syrian Press .....	157
Components of Identity in the Beirut Press: How to Create Syrian Waṭaniyya .....	163
Tolerance, Brotherhood, and an Appeal to Abandon Sectarian Strife .....	163
Ḥubb al-Waṭan min al-Īmān (Love of the Homeland is [an Article] of Faith) .....	166
Creation of a Common Identity .....	168
Pre-Islamic Heritage: Arabic Language and Culture .....	169
An Application of Identity .....	173
Traditional Versus Modern: The Rise of Syrian Historiography .....	173
Traditional Genre .....	174
In between Genres .....	175
The Modern Genre: Syria as a Country .....	176
“Historical Novels” as Building Identity: The Role of Heritage, Myth and Women in the Waṭan .....	183
The Case of al-Ĵinān —First Experience .....	186
Selective Heritage and Myths .....	190
Building the New Self: Zenobia Queen of Palmyra (Tadmor) .....	191

Building the New Self with the “Other”: Al-Andalus and the Conquest of Bilād al-Shām .....	197
The Role of Women in the Waṭan .....	200
Epilogue .....	213
Appendix I: Biographies of Leading Families and Individuals from the Syrian Middle Stratum .....	219
Appendix II: The Various Meanings and Definitions of the Name “Syria” .....	245
Bibliography .....	253
Index .....	265

LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS

Figures

2.1	“The new fashion”—a mockery of Western dress code .....	76
5.1	Budūr riding on horseback .....	204
5.2	Budūr escaping on a horse .....	204
5.3	Budūr crying out “Woe to war!” .....	205
5.4	Budūr weaving .....	205
5.5	Amīr ‘Abd al-Raḥmān .....	205
5.6	Budūr writing .....	208

Map

Map of Vilâyet of Syria—1300AH/1882 .....	97
--	----