

Contents

Acknowledgments ix

- 1 Values Research in the Social and Behavioral Sciences 1
Michael Hechter

Part I. Social Scientific Perspectives

- 2 Are Values Real? The Enigma of Naturalism
in the Anthropological Imputation of Values 31
Fredrik Barth
- 3 On the Social Construction of Distinctions: Risk, Rape,
Public Goods, and Altruism 47
Aaron Wildavsky
- 4 Values Come in Styles, Which Mate to Change 63
Harrison C. White
- 5 The Meaning, Nature, and Sources of Value in Economics 93
Tibor Scitovsky
- 6 The Fair Wage-Effort Hypothesis in Unemployment 107
George A. Akerlof and Janet L. Yellen

Part II. Psychological Perspectives

- 7 Behavior, Reinforcement, and Utility 137
Richard J. Herrnstein
- 8 On the Creation and Destruction of Value 153
Barry Schwartz
- 9 Value Elicitation: Is There Anything in There? 187
Baruch Fischhoff

10	Moral Philosophy and Mental Representation Stephen P. Stich	215
11	Approaches to a Psychology of Value George Mandler	229
Part III. Biological Perspectives
12	Biology and the Origin of Values Richard E. Michod	261
13	The Neural Basis of Pleasure and Pain Keith B. J. Franklin	273
14	Sex Differences in Chimpanzee (and Human) Behavior: A Matter of Social Values? Frans B. M. de Waal	285
15	How Are Values Transmitted? L. Luca Cavalli-Sforza	305
16	Morality Recapitulates Phylogeny Lionel Tiger	319
	Biographical Sketches of the Contributors	333
	Index	337