

Contents

Preface and Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction	xi
Part I: Classical Social Theory
1 Marx and Engels on Social Class and Class Struggle	3
2 Durkheim on Society and the Social Order	13
3 Weber on Bureaucracy, Power, and Social Status	21
4 Pareto, Mosca, and Michels on Elites and Masses	29
5 Cooley and Mead on Human Nature and Society	37
6 Freud on the Development of Society and Civilization	47
7 Gramsci and Lenin on Ideology, the State, and Revolution	55
8 Kollontai on Class, Gender, and Patriarchy	63
9 Du Bois and Frazier on Race, Class, and Social Emancipation	69
Part II: Contemporary Social Theory
10 Parsons, Merton, and Functionalist Theory	79
11 Mills on the Power Elite	87
12 Domhoff on the Power Structure and the Governing Class	93
13 Althusser, Poulantzas, and Miliband on Politics and the State	99

14	Trimberger, Block, and Skocpol and Neo-Weberian Theorizing	107
15	Homans on Social Exchange	115
16	Goffman and Garfinkel on Dramaturgy, Ethnomethodology, and Everyday Life	121
17	Wilson and Willie on Race, Class, and Poverty	131
18	Recent Developments in Contemporary Feminist Theory	141
19	Wallerstein and World-Systems Theory	157
20	Therborn and Szymanski on Contemporary Marxist Theory	163
21	Harvey and Callinicos on Postmodernism and Its Critique	171
	Conclusion	181
	Bibliography	183
	Index	193
	About the Author	199