

Contents

	ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	vii
1	INTRODUCTION	1
2	PROCUREMENT REGULATION AND OFFICIAL DISCRETION	11
	The Development of the Procurement Regulatory System 15
	Procedures for Acquiring Computers 18
	The Role of the Contracts Function in the Procurement Process 24
	Public Management 26
3	THE TYRANNY OF THE PROPOSAL	29
	What Is Hard to Figure Out before Contract Award? 29
	Search and Experience as Sources of Information 38
	Alternatives to Past Performance Information 47
	Contract Award and the Early Establishment of Award Criteria 56
	A Note on Price and Contract Award 60
	Conclusion 61
4	GETTING THE MOST OUT OF CONTRACTORS: COMPETITION AND INFORMAL LONG-TERM RELATIONSHIPS	62
	Past Performance and Incentives 63
	Site-specific Knowledge 69
	Managing the Problems of Long-term Informal Relationships 77
	Competition Requirements and Vendor Assistance with Specifications 81
	Conclusions 83

5

Rule-boundedness and Government Performance 88
 Suggestions for Change 90
 Possible Objections 94

APPENDIX A: RESEARCH METHODOLOGY 106

APPENDIX B: THE CASE STUDIES 109

Case Study 1 U.S. Department of Agriculture Local Office Computerization 109
 Case Study 2 U.S. Customs Service Local Office Computerization 123
 Case Study 3 Immigration and Naturalization Service Hardware Computerization 132
 Case Study 4 Customs Service Consolidated Data Network 143
 Case Study 5 Veterans Administration Office Automation Contract 148
 Case Study 6 Internal Revenue Service Center Mainframe Replacement System 153
 Case Study 7 Federal Aviation Administration Host Computer Replacement 161
 Case Study 8 Environmental Protection Agency Computer Operations and Maintenance Service 168
 Case Study 9 Internal Revenue Service Computer Support Services 176

NOTES 184

INDEX 208

TABLES: 1-1 Perception of Government and Private-sector Computer Managers of Overpromising by Vendors 7
 1-2 Criticisms by Government Computer Managers of the Current Procurement System 10
 3-1 Opinions of Information Obtained from Vendor-provided References 48
 4-1 Managers' Ratings of Vendor Initiative in Identifying Needs for Most Recent Major Computer-related Acquisition 75