

Contents

Notes on contributors	ix
Acknowledgements	xiii
1 Introduction	1
ANNA TRIANDAFYLLIDOU AND WILLFRIED SPOHN
PART I
Theoretical approaches and comparative perspectives	19
2 The collective identity of Europe: constitutional practice or community of memory?	21
BERNHARD GIESEN
3 Enduring nations and the illusions of European integration	36
JOHN HUTCHINSON
4 Democracy without demos: European integration as a process of the change of institutions and cultures	52
RICHARD MÜNCH
5 Integrating immigrants and minorities in a wider and deeper Europe	83
ANDREW GEDDES
6 Migration, cultural diversification and Europeanisation	99
KRYSTYNA ROMANISZYN

PART II

Europeanisation, nations and collective identities 121

7 European East–West integration, nation-building and national identities: the reconstruction of German–Polish relations 123

WILLFRIED SPOHN

8 Polish identity in the process of Europeanisation 144

MIROSLAVA MARODY

9 Russian perspectives on Germany and Russian self-definitions 153

ERHARD STÖLTING

PART III

Europeanisation, national identities and migration 169

10 National identities of Polish (im)migrants in Berlin: four varieties, their correlates and implications 171

EWA MORAWSKA

11 Changing rhetoric and narratives: German trade unions and Polish migrant workers 192

NORBERT CYRUS

12 Joining an EU identity: integration of Hungary or the Hungarians? 223

JUDIT TÓTH AND ENDRE SIK

Index 245