

Contents

Tables and figures | viii Acknowledgements | ix

Introduction	1
1 Intoxicating substances in historical perspective	4
The role of drugs in global society 4 Opium and empire 7
The Chinese opium market 11
2 The drift to regulation and the idea of prohibition	14
Drug consumption in the western market 14 The advent of control: Britain and America contrasted 17 The US modernization experience: tension and protest 19 The alcohol prohibition movement and experience 23
3 From regulation to control: the internationalization of drug
prohibition	27
The anti-opium campaign in Britain 27 Enter America: the anti-opium campaign of the US government 29 The Shanghai Conference of 1909 and its impact 33
4 The beginnings of international drug control	38
From principle to policy 38 Evaluating the early drug control system 42 Domestic drug control 46
5 The post-war international drug control regime	51
The United Nations and drug control 54 The post-war model:
prohibition victory? 60 Rebellion and division within the drug control system 64
6 Trends in drug consumption.	67
The knowledge gap 67 Patterns of controlled drug use 70
Consumption dynamics in the 2000s 71
7 Trends in cultivation and production	82
Supply controls phase 1: opiates, supply reduction and the rise of the Golden Triangle 82 Supply controls phase 2: supply expansion and the Golden Crescent 85	Coca and cocaine 91

	The manufacture and supply of other controlled drugs 93
	The traffic in and traffickers of controlled drugs 96
8	Accounting for failure: the problem of prohibition	100
	The limits of prohibition 100 The economics of the drug trade 101
9	Accounting for failure 2: institutions and policy	112
	Alternative development 112 Research: a hostile environment 118 Demand-side neglect 122 By way of a conclusion: institutional crisis and decline 124
10	The political impact of drugs and drug control	126
	The importance of state presence 126 Anti-drug responses: more harm than good? 132 United States: the heart of the problem 139 Full circle: more harm than good? 143
11	HIV/AIDS and intravenous drug use	145
	The epidemiology of HIV/AIDS 145 The rise of the post-Soviet drug problem 146 IDU-related sub-epidemics: the global picture 151 From IDUs to broader infection 153 Conclusion 154
12	International drug control and HIV/AIDS	156
	Harm reduction and injecting drug use 156 Injecting drug use and prisons 159 Opposition to harm reduction 160 A problem caused by drug control? 163 Conclusion 165
13	Cultivation and drug production: the environmental costs	167
	The greening of the drugs issue 167 The environmental costs of narcotic plant cultivation 168 Drug production and the environment 172 Drugs and the environment: a credible debate? 173 Conclusion 175
14	Anti-drug policies and the environment: the role of chemical fumigation	176
	US fumigation strategies in historical context: the Mexican experience 176 Contemporary fumigation strategies: Plan Colombia 179 The impact of chemical fumigation with Glyphosate 180 The politics of fumigation 184 By way of a conclusion 187

15 The new magic bullet: bio-control solutions 190
The evolution of the mycoherbicide strategy | 190 The Fusarium
debate | 193 The direction of mycoherbicide research | 195
The politics of mycoherbicides | 195 The challenge of US
unilateralism | 197 Conclusion | 198

16 A note on hemp 200
A brief history of hemp | 200 The economic causes of hemp's
decline | 202 The political causes of hemp's decline | 203
The contemporary hemp revolution | 206 Conclusion | 209

By way of a conclusion 211

Bibliography | 213
Index | 235

Tables and figures

Tables

4.1	Pre-Second World War drug conventions	38
5.1	Post-Second World War drug conventions	52
5.2	The international drug control apparatus	59
6.1	Global drug use: annual prevalence rate	74
6.2	Annual prevalence of cannabis use	75
6.3	Annual prevalence of ATS use	76
6.4	Annual prevalence of ecstasy use	78
6.5	Annual prevalence of opiate use, 2003–04	79
6.6	Annual prevalence of cocaine use	81
7.1	Opium production in Southeast Asia, 1990–2004	87
7.2	Opium poppy cultivation in Southeast Asia, 1988–2004	87
7.3	Opium production in Southwest Asia, 1990–2004	88
7.4	Opium poppy cultivation in Southwest Asia, 1988–2004	89
7.5	Opium poppy cultivation in Latin America, 1988–2004	90
7.6	South American coca bush cultivation, 1988–2004	92
7.7	Potential cocaine manufacture, 1988–2004	93
7.8	Distribution of cannabis herb and cannabis resin production	94
7.9	Price of pure drugs in the USA	96
8.1	Price dynamics in the opiate and cocaine trade	102
8.2	Farmgate price of coca leaf, 1991–2002	103
8.3	Farmgate price of opium, 1990–2000	103
9.1	Expert drug reports	121
11.1	Regional statistics for HIV and AIDS, end of 2003	145
11.2	Registered drug addicts in Russia, 1991–2000	147
11.3	HIV infection caused by IDU	149
13.1	Chemicals used in the processing of cocaine base and cocaine, Colombia, 2000	172
14.1	Fumigation and cultivation in Colombia, 1997–2004	181
14.2	The balloon effect in Plan Colombia	182
16.1	Hemp: world harvested area, 1948–97	204

Figures

7.1	Opium production in Latin America, 1991–2003	90
7.2	Potential global heroin manufacture, 1994–2004	91