

Contents of Volume 1

Mechanisms of Imitation and Imitation in Animals

Contents of Volume 2 ix

Introduction: The Importance of Imitation

Susan Hurley and Nick Chater 1

I Mechanisms of Imitation 53

1 The Mirror Neuron System and Imitation

Giacomo Rizzolatti 55

2 Understanding Others: Imitation, Language, and Empathy

Marco Iacoboni 77

3 “Being Like Me”: Self–Other Identity, Mirror Neurons, and Empathy

Vittorio Gallese 101

4 The Neurophysiology of Imitation and Intersubjectivity

Jean Decety and Thierry Chaminade 119

5 An Ideomotor Approach to Imitation

Wolfgang Prinz 141

6 Imitation by Association

Cecilia Heyes 157

7 The Shared Circuits Hypothesis: A Unified Functional Architecture for Control, Imitation, and Simulation

Susan Hurley 177

8 Commentary and Discussion on Mechanisms of Imitation

8.1 Reflections on Mirror Systems

J. N. P. Rawlins on Rizzolatti and on Decety and Chaminade 195

- 8.2 Action Recognition, Imitation, and Language Are Different
Michael Arbib on Iacoboni 200
- 8.3 Evidence for Memetic Drive?
Susan Blackmore on Iacoboni 203
- 8.4 The Role of Mirror Neurons in Imitation
Susan Jones on Gallese 205
- 8.5 Overlapping Brain States while Viewing and Doing
Marcel Kinsbourne on Decety and Chaminade 210
- 8.6 Action, Ideation, and Perception
Michael Arbib on W. Prinz 215
- 8.7 The Application of Ideomotor Theory to Imitation
Merlin Donald on W. Prinz 217
- 8.8 How to Analyze Learning by Imitation
Bennett Galef on Heyes 218
- 8.9 The Imitative Correspondence Problem: Solved or Sidestepped?
Andrew Whiten on Heyes 220
- II Imitation in Animals 223
- 9 Detecting, Understanding, and Explaining Imitation by Animals
Richard W. Byrne 225
- 10 Insights into Vocal Imitation in African Grey Parrots (Psittacus erithacus)
Irene M. Pepperberg 243
- 11 Selective Imitation in Child and Chimpanzee: A Window on the Construal of Others' Actions
Andrew Whiten, Victoria Horner, and Sarah Marshall-Pescini 263
- 12 Commentary and Discussion on Imitation in Animals
- 12.1 Imitation in Animals: Function versus Mechanism and the Issue of Novelty
Thomas Zentall on Byrne 285
- 12.2 Novelty and Complexity: Two Problems in Animal (and Human) Imitation
Birgit Elsner on Byrne 287
- 12.3 Do Parrots (and Children) Emulate Speech Sounds?
Richard W. Byrne on Pepperberg 290
- 12.4 Some Reflections on Imitation in Human Language
Martin J. Pickering on Pepperberg 293

12.5 Breathing New Life into the Study of Imitation by Animals: What and When Do Chimpanzees Imitate?

Bennett Galef on Whiten, Horner, and Marshall-Pescini 295

12.6 Why Don't Apes Ape More?

Susan Jones on Whiten, Horner, and Marshall-Pescini 297

Bibliography for Volumes 1 and 2 303

Contributors to Volumes 1 and 2 377

Index to Volume 1 381

Index to Volume 2 409

Contents of Volume 2

Imitation, Human Development, and Culture

Introduction: The Importance of Imitation

Susan Hurley and Nick Chater 1

I Imitation and Human Development 53

1 Imitation and Other Minds: The “Like Me” Hypothesis

Andrew N. Meltzoff 55

2 Imitation, Mind Reading, and Simulation

Alvin I. Goldman 79

3 Intentional Agents Like Myself

Robert M. Gordon 95

4 No Compelling Evidence to Dispute Piaget’s Timetable of the Development of Representational Imitation in Infancy

Moshe Anisfeld 107

5 Intention Reading and Imitative Learning

Michael Tomasello and Malinda Carpenter 133

6 On Learning What Not to Do: The Emergence of Selective Imitation in Tool Use by Young Children

Paul L. Harris and Stephen Want 149

7 Imitation as Entrainment: Brain Mechanisms and Social Consequences

Marcel Kinsbourne 163

8 Commentary and Discussion on Imitation and Human Development

8.1 Grasping Action

Paul L. Harris on Meltzoff 173

8.2 Do Babies Know What They Look Like? Doppelgängers and the Phenomenology of Infancy

Nicholas Humphrey on Meltzoff 178

- 8.3 Construing Selves from Others
Wolfgang Prinz on Goldman 180
- 8.4 Some Reflections on the Theory Theory–Simulation Theory Debate
Ruth Garrett Millikan on Goldman 182
- 8.5 Who Can Imitate Depends on How We Define Imitation
Thomas Zentall on Anisfeld 189
- 8.6 What Does Infant Imitation Tell Us about the Underlying Representations?
Birgit Elsner on Anisfeld 191
- 8.7 Joining the Intentional Dance
Guy Claxton on Tomasello and Carpenter 194
- 8.8 Two Elegant Experiments
George Comstock on Harris and Want 197
- 8.9 Against Copying: Learning When (and Whom) Not to Ape
Guy Claxton on Kinsbourne 199
- 8.10 Imitating Violence
Susan Brison on Kinsbourne 202

II Imitation and Culture

- 9 Why We Are Social Animals: The High Road to Imitation as Social Glue
Ap Dijksterhuis 207
- 10 Deceptive Mimicry in Humans
Diego Gambetta 221
- 11 What Effects Does the Treatment of Violence in the Mass Media Have on People’s Conduct? A Controversy Reconsidered
John Eldridge 243
- 12 Imitation and the Effects of Observing Media Violence on Behavior
L. Rowell Huesmann 257
- 13 Imitation and Moral Development
Jesse J. Prinz 267
- 14 Imitation and Mimesis
Merlin Donald 283
- 15 Imitation and Rationality
Robert Sugden 301
- 16 Common Misunderstandings of Memes (and Genes): The Promise and the Limits of the Genetic Analogy to Cultural Transmission Processes
Francisco J. Gil-White 317

17 Goals versus Memes: Explanation in the Theory of Cultural Evolution

Mark Greenberg 339

18 Mendelian and Darwinian Views of Memes and Cultural Change

Nick Chater 355

19 Commentary and Discussion on Imitation and Culture

19.1 Not Waving but Drowning

Susan Brison on Dijksterhuis 363

19.2 The Imitation Superhighway

Harry Litman on Dijksterhuis 365

19.3 The Crimes of Proteus

Harry Litman on Gambetta 368

19.4 Media Violence and Aggression, Properly Considered

George Comstock on Eldridge 371

19.5 Applying the Science of Imitation to the Imitation of Violence

Susan Hurley on Huesmann 380

19.6 Acquiring Morality by Imitating Emotions

L. Rowell Huesmann on J. Prinz 386

19.7 Mirror Systems and Adam Smith's Theory of Sympathy

Robert Sugden 388

19.8 The Relation between Language and (Mimetic) Culture

Morten H. Christiansen on Donald 391

19.9 A Possible Confusion between Mimetic and Memetic

Susan Blackmore on Donald 396

19.10 Imitation as a Tool of Cooperation and Manipulation

Paul Seabright on Sugden and on Gambetta 398

19.11 Proving Rationality

Mark Greenberg on Sugden 402

19.12 Even Deeper Misunderstandings of Memes

Susan Blackmore on Gil-White 406

19.13 Can Memes Meet the Challenge?

Susan Blackmore on Greenberg and on Chater 409

Bibliography for Volumes 1 and 2 413

Contributors to Volumes 1 and 2 487

Index to Volume 1 491

Index to Volume 2 519