

Contents

Acknowledgments	IX
Introducing Jewish Identity to Art History Catherine M. Soussloff	I
PART I: THEORIES, LAWS, AND DISCIPLINES
From Bezal'el to Max Liebermann: Jewish Art in Nineteenth-Century Art-Historical Texts Margaret Olin	19
Anti-Semitism and Aniconism: The Germanophone Requiem for Jewish Visual Art Kalman P. Bland	41
To Figure, or Not to Figure: The Iconoclastic Proscription and Its Theoretical Legacy Lisa Saltzman	67
PART II: ARTISTS AND COLLECTORS
Jewish Identity in Art and History: Maurycy Gottlieb as Early Jewish Artist Larry Silver	87
Collecting and Collective Memory: German Expressionist Art and Modern Jewish Identity Robin Reisenfeld	114
Ethnic Notions and Feminist Strategies of the 1970s: Some Work by Judy Chicago and Eleanor Antin Lisa Bloom	135

PART III: ART HISTORIANS AND CRITICS

Art History, German Jewish Identity, and the Emigration of Iconology Karen Michels	167
Reframing the Self-Criticism: Clement Greenberg's "Modernist Painting" in Light of Jewish Identity Louis Kaplan	180
Meyer Schapiro's Jewish Unconscious Donald Kuspit	200
Aby Warburg: Forced Identity and "Cultural Science" Charlotte Schoell-Glass	218
List of Illustrations	231
List of Contributors	234
Index	237