

CONTENTS

List of Figures	vii
List of Tables	viii
Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction: The Modern Mind	1
Chapter 1: Conceptualizing Modernity	5
Four Characteristic Transformations	6
Weber's Conception of "Rational Action"	15
Chapter 2: The Problems of Modernity	26
The Philosophical Problem of Modernity	27
The Cultural Problem of Modernity	32
The Political Problem of Modernity	36
Chapter 3: Modernity in the Context of Human Struggle	39
José Ortega y Gasset	40
Competing Responses to the Crisis of Modernity	45
Ortega's Influence on Spanish Literature	52

Chapter 4: The Life and Literature of Underdevelopment	57
Living with Underdevelopment	59
The Literature of Underdevelopment	64
Chapter 5: Time and Reality	70
Time	71
Reality	85
Life as the Present Moment	91
Chapter 6: Solitude and Love	95
Solitude	96
Love	118
Love as Lifestyle	125
Chapter 7: Power, Politics, and Recovery	129
Power	131
Politics	141
Criticism and Dignity in Life	152
Bibliography of Works Cited	156
Index	166

LIST OF FIGURES

- Figure 1-a: Daniel Bell's depiction of the separation of the realms (spheres) in modernity (Bell: 10-14). 11
- Figure 1-b: Some of the competing spheres of value that Max Weber identified in modernity 13
- Figure 1-c: Changes in dominance among different "types" of rationality that occur as a result of the process of rationalization 22
- Figure 2-a: The unification of formal rationality and value-rational economic social action in the "protestant ethic" (1) leads to the modern economic order (2) 33

LIST OF TABLES

Table 1.1: Summary of the Characteristic Transformations of Modernity	7
Table 1.2: Weber's typology of rational social action crossed with his typology of rationality	17
Table 1.3: A Weberian typology of rational action and forms of rationality in the "techno-economic" value sphere	19
Table 1.4: A Weberian typology of rational action and forms of rationality in the "polity" value sphere	21
Table 1.5: A Weberian typology of rational action and forms of rationality in the "culture" value sphere	23
Table 2.1: Summary of the typical responses to the crisis of modernity, including Ortega's approach	53