

Part I Texts

| | | |
|---|--|----|
| 1 | How the Media Communicate | 3 |
| | Media forms and conventions | 4 |
| | Different mediums, different conventions: The X-Files | 5 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 11 |
| 2 | Reading Media Images | 13 |
| | Mise-en-scène analysis | 13 |
| | Semiotic analysis | 19 |
| | The problems with textual analysis | 27 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 28 |
| 3 | Ideology | 29 |
| | What is ideology? | 29 |
| | Althusser | 31 |
| | Hegemony | 33 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 38 |
| 4 | Representation | 39 |
| | Representation: a definition | 39 |
| | Stereotypes | 40 |
| | Content analysis | 44 |
| | A hegemonic approach | 47 |
| | Images of youth | 49 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 56 |
| 5 | Genre | 57 |
| | Genre: a definition | 57 |
| | Genre and production | 58 |
| | Genre and film | 60 |
| | Genre study and film criticism | 61 |
| | Genre and television | 62 |
| | The television western | 62 |
| | Genre and ideology | 63 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 65 |
| 6 | Narrative | 66 |
| | Narrative models: some definitions | 67 |
| | Conventions of narrative across media forms | 68 |
| | Why is narrative important to the media industry? | 69 |
| | Structuralism and narrative theory | 71 |
| | The impact of structuralism on film studies | 77 |

| | | |
|---|--|----|
| | The problems with structuralist narrative models | 78 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 79 |
| 7 | Intertextuality | 80 |
| | Definitions | 80 |
| | Postmodernism and intertextuality | 81 |
| | Intertextuality and advertising | 83 |
| | Intertextuality, politics and popular music | 84 |
| | Intertextuality and film genre | 85 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 87 |

Part II Institutions

| | | |
|----|--|-----|
| 8 | Approaches to Media Institutions | 91 |
| | What is a media institution? | 91 |
| | Critical approaches to media institutions | 94 |
| | Media institutions in the context of globalization | 103 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 106 |
| 9 | Public Service Broadcasting and the Market | 107 |
| | The development of broadcasting in Britain | 107 |
| | Information as a commodity not a service | 119 |
| | Deregulation and consumer choice | 120 |
| | The future: responses to change | 121 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 122 |
| 10 | Media Professionalism and Codes of Practice | 123 |
| | The professional: definitions | 123 |
| | Occupational ideologies | 125 |
| | Professional practice and newsroom studies | 126 |
| | Professionalism and political conflict | 129 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 131 |
| 11 | Independent Media | 132 |
| | What is an independent? | 132 |
| | Media structures | 133 |
| | British television | 135 |
| | Community radio | 136 |
| | Independent cinema exhibition | 138 |
| | Independent film distribution in the UK | 140 |
| | Undercurrents | 141 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 143 |

Part III Audiences

| | | |
|----|---|-----|
| 12 | Conceptualizing and Measuring Media Audiences | 147 |
| | Conceiving the audience: television schedules | 147 |

| | | |
|----|--|-----|
| | Measuring media audiences | 151 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 155 |
| 13 | The Effects of the Media on Audience Groups | 156 |
| | What are the aims of effects research? | 156 |
| | The historical development of the effects tradition | 157 |
| | The limitations of effects research | 160 |
| | An early challenge to the effects tradition: uses and gratifications | 161 |
| | The dominance of effects research in the 1990s | 163 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 167 |
| 14 | Contexts of Media Consumption | 168 |
| | The developmental context of the cultural studies approach | 169 |
| | The cultural studies challenge to the power of the text | 171 |
| | The cultural studies turn to 'lived' contexts of consumption | 174 |
| | The power relations of media reception and technology | 178 |
| | Cultural studies and consumption | 181 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 183 |
| 15 | Minority Audiences and the Media | 184 |
| | What do we mean by minority? | 184 |
| | Black women as cultural readers | 185 |
| | Sexual minorities and the media | 187 |
| | Star images and gay men | 189 |
| | Fans and fan culture | 191 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 193 |
| 16 | New Technologies and Media Audiences | 194 |
| | Technology and society | 194 |
| | The development of colour cinema | 196 |
| | Media technology and the individual | 199 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 202 |
| 17 | Media Consumption and Social Status | 203 |
| | Theories of consumption and social distinction | 204 |
| | Television: a case study of a 'vulgar' medium | 207 |
| | Media technologies, taste and social status | 209 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 214 |
| 18 | Public Participation in the 1990s | 215 |
| | The increase in audience participation in the 1990s | 215 |
| | The ideological implications of 'talk' for audiences | 219 |
| | Suggestions for further work | 225 |

| | |
|---|-----|
| Epilogue: Research Methods in Media Studies | 227 |
| What do we mean by research? | 227 |
| Researching for assignments | 228 |
| Establishing objectives | 228 |
| Selecting relevant material | 231 |
| Using libraries | 233 |
| Writing up | 235 |
| Conclusion | 239 |
| Bibliography | 242 |
| Index | 251 |