

Contents

Acknowledgements	xii
List of tables	xiii
List of abbreviations	xiv
1 Auxiliaries and Auxiliary Verb Constructions
Introduction and overview	1
1.1 Sampling methodology	1
1.2 Auxiliary verbs as understood in this volume	4
1.3 Auxiliary verb constructions	7
1.4 AVCs and other complex predicate types	9
1.4.1 AVCs and serial verb constructions	11
1.4.2 AVCs and verb/complement structures	15
1.4.3 Coordinate formations and AVCs	16
1.4.4 Other AUX-like elements	16
1.5 Inflection, dependency and headedness in AVCs	18
1.5.1 Inflection	18
1.5.2 Heads	21
1.6 Brief history of the study of auxiliary verbs and AVCs	27
1.7 Functional typology of AVCs: an overview	30
1.7.1 TAM categories	30
1.7.2 Negative polarity	33
1.7.3 Voice	34
1.7.4 Version and orientation/directionality	35
1.7.5 'Adverbial' functions	37
1.8 Structure of the volume	37
2 AUX-headed Constructions
Overview	39
2.1 Formal subtypes of AUX-headed auxiliary verb constructions	39
2.2 Infinitive forms of lexical verbs in AVCs of the AUX-headed pattern	44
2.3 Nominalized forms of lexical verbs in AVCs of the AUX-headed pattern	56

2.4	Gerund/converb forms of lexical verbs in AVCs of the AUX-headed pattern	64
2.5	Participle forms of lexical verbs in AVCs of the AUX-headed pattern	70
2.6	Tense-aspect-mood forms of lexical verbs in AUX-headed AVCs	78
2.7	Other forms of lexical verbs in AVCs of the AUX-headed pattern	82
2.7.1	Subordinate/dependent forms of lexical verbs in AVCs of the AUX-headed pattern	83
2.7.2	Reduplicated forms of lexical verbs in AVCs of the AUX-headed pattern	85
2.7.3	Switch reference forms of lexical verbs in AVCs of the AUX-headed pattern	89
2.7.4	Connegative forms of lexical verbs in AVCs of the AUX-headed pattern	91
2.7.5	Case-marked forms of lexical verbs in AVCs of the AUX-headed pattern	95
2.7.6	Connective/conjunctive forms of lexical verbs in AVCs of the AUX-headed pattern	100
2.7.7	Irrealis/subjunctive forms of lexical verbs in AVCs of the AUX-headed pattern	101
2.8	Bare or unmarked forms of the lexical verb (Ø)	102
	Summary	113
3	LEX-headed Auxiliary Verb Constructions
	Introduction	116
3.1	Subtypes of LEX-headed AVCs	116
3.2	Reanalysed 'clausal' subject forms as LEX-headed AVCs	131
3.3	Other patterns	135
3.4	Dependency relations in LEX-headed AVCs	138
3.5	Alternations between LEX-headed and other patterns	141
	Summary	142
4	Doubled Inflection
	Introduction	144
4.1	Doubled subject (and object) inflection	144
4.1.1	Doubled subject inflection	144
4.1.2	Doubled subject and object inflection	151

4.2	Doubled TAM inflection	163
4.3	Doubled subject and TAM inflection	167
4.4	Doubled negation	173
4.5	Structural dependency and inflectional co-headedness in AVCs	174
4.5.1	Doubled inflection with 'dependent' marked lexical verb	175
4.5.2	Doubled inflection with 'dependent' marked auxiliary verb	181
	Summary	182
5	Split and Split/Doubled Inflectional Patterns
	Overview	183
5.1.	Split patterns	183
5.1.1	Lexical verb in a negative form; Auxiliary verb marks subject and TAM	183
5.1.2	Lexical verb marks object, Auxiliary verb marks subject	190
5.1.3	Lexical verb marks TAM categories, Auxiliary verb marks subject (object)	198
5.1.4	Lexical verb marks subject, Auxiliary verb marks TAM categories	200
5.1.5	Lexical verb marks subject, TAM categories, Auxiliary verb marks negative	203
5.1.6	Lexical verb marks subject, Auxiliary verb marks object	205
5.1.7	Some other split patterns	207
5.1.8	TAM splits	210
5.1.9	Pseudo-split patterns	213
5.1.10	Summary of split forms	214
5.2	Split/doubled patterns	215
5.2.1	Categories marked on the Auxiliary verb plus doubled categories	215
5.2.2	Some categories on lexical verb, others doubled	221
5.2.3	Some categories on Auxiliary verb, some on Lexical verb, some doubled	227
5.2.4	Summary of split/doubled patterns	242
5.3	Dependency within split and split/doubled patterns	242
	Summary	248

6	Complex Verb Forms from Fused Auxiliary Verb Constructions
	Overview	249
	6.1 Fused AUX-headed AVCs	249
	6.2 Fused LEX-headed AVCs	267
	6.3 Fused doubled inflection in AVCs	270
	6.4 Fused split and fused split/doubled inflection in AVCs	276
	6.5 Fusing of subject/pronoun, TAM, polarity, and auxiliary in AVCs	289
	Summary	301
7	The Origins of Patterns of Inflection in Auxiliary Verb Constructions
	Overview	302
	7.1 Serial verb constructions > AVCs	303
	7.1.1 Verbal outcomes of SVCs	305
	7.1.2 On nominal developments of SVCs	317
	7.2 Clause combining	318
	7.2.1 Verb + complement clause sequences	320
	7.2.2 Clause chaining and AVCs	326
	7.3 Semantic developments of AVCs: grammaticalization, event schema, etc.	332
	7.3.1 Positional/postural event schemata	341
	7.3.2 Motion event schemata	345
	7.3.3 Action event schemata	352
	7.3.4 Change-of-state event schemata	359
	7.3.5 Location event schemata	363
	7.3.6 Other simplex event schemata	365
	7.3.7 Complex event schemata	365
	7.4 Category encoding vs. category embodying	373
	7.5 Monophrasis and univertation (syntactic and prosodic headedness revisited)	373
	7.6 Synchronic variation and diachronic change in AVCs	375
	7.6.1 Variation between dependent and non-dependent forms	375
	7.6.2 Variation between dependent forms	376
	7.6.3 Variation between fused and unfused forms	377
	7.6.4 Variation between inflectional patterns	380
	7.6.5 Grammaticalized variation: split paradigms	384

7.6.6 Macro-variation on a micro-scale: pattern variability in one language

387

Summary

389

Appendix

390

References

411

Subject index

459

Language index

463