

Contents

Preface	page ix
Abbreviations	xiii

PART I Introductory

1 The theoretical absurd: an introduction	2
The philosophical absurd	2
Jokes, humour, nonsense and the absurd	14
The socio-linguistic absurd	23
2 Antecedents to the absurd	33
From the ancients ...	33
Madness: mysteries to Shakespeare	36
Nonsense, Swift and Sterne	41
Romantic grotesque to 'higher' realism and pre-Surrealist nonsense	43

PART II Growth of the absurd

3 The twentieth century: towards the absurd	66
Introductory pointers	66
'Post-Impressionists' in England	69
Avant-garde theory and practice	74
Disparate European prose: Western and Eastern proto-absurdism	86
4 Around the absurd I: twentieth-century absurdist practice	99
Fernando Pessoa and the 'pessimistic absurd'	100
Antonin Artaud and the 'cruelty' of the absurd	107
Camus and the Dostoevsky connection	114

5	Around the absurd II: the Theatre of the Absurd	126
	Ionesco and others: the French-language scene	128
	Pinter and others: the English-language scene	133
	The East European scene	143
	(Soviet) Russia: the OBERIU	143
	(Cold-War) Poland and Czechoslovakia	147
PART III Special authors
6	Daniil Kharmis as minimalist-absurdist	158
	A Kharmis sketch	158
	The Kharmisian canon	160
	A poetics of extremism	163
	Logic of the black miniature	166
	Pursuing the red-haired man	169
	Kharmisian others?	175
7	Franz Kafka: otherness in the labyrinth of absurdity	184
	Kafka and the other(s)	185
	Kafka in the other(s)	189
	Falling and cawing in the labyrinth	198
8	Samuel Beckett's vessels, voices and shades of the absurd	215
	In the wake of Kafka?	215
	The prose	220
	The drama	226
	Further shades of the absurd	232
9	Flann O'Brien and the purloined absurd	251
	The hydra-headed man	251
	At Swim-Two-Birds: juvenile scribbling as metafictional absurd?	259
	The Third Policeman: questions, mysteries, answers	264
PART IV In conclusion
10	Beyond the absurd?	280
	The prosaic absurd	280
	Beyond the 'Theatre of the Absurd'?	291
	Popular culture	299
	That miscellaneous and ubiquitous absurd	301
	Conclusion	309
	Bibliography	314
	Index	337