

Contents

	Acknowledgements	vii
	Preface	ix
1	Theoretical Bearings	1
Part One	The International Format Trade
2	The Pie And The Crust: Television Program Formats	13
3	The International Format Market: Players and Trade	25
4	English Language Grundy	41
5	Grundy World Wide	55
Part Two	Program Adaptations and Cultural Identity
6	Contests of Knowledge and Beauty: Game Shows, Sale of the Century and Man O Man	75
7	WIP Shows: Prisoner Cell Block H, Dangerous Women and Vrouwenvleugel	91
8	A Tale of Two Cities: Sons and Daughters , and Verbotene Liebe	109
9	Try, Try and Try Again: The Restless Years, Goede Tijden Slechte Tijden and Gute Zeiten, Schlechte Zeiten	123
Part Three	National Audiences, Programs and Cultural Identity
10	... 'no such thing as typically German': German Audiences and German Images	145
11	... 'not just a country with windmills, dykes, clogs, canals, tulips': Dutch Soaps and Dutch Audiences	155
Part Four	Further Reflections
12	Television Format Adaptation and National Identity	169
	References	179
	Abbreviations	197
	Index	199