

Contents

Preface – Omissions, Commissions and Thanks	vii
Notes on Editors and Contributors	ix

Part 1: The Key Issues Facing Journalism in the Advanced Democracies

1 Introduction Peter J. Anderson (with Geoff Ward)	3
2 The Changing World of Journalism Peter J. Anderson and Anthony Weymouth (with Geoff Ward)	17
3 Competing Models of Journalism and Democracy Peter J. Anderson	39
4 Challenges for Journalism Peter J. Anderson	51

Part 2: UK Case Studies

5 UK National Newspapers Geoff Ward	73
6 UK Regional and Local Newspapers Julie Freer	89
7 UK Radio Journalism John Drury	105
8 Online Journalism François Nel, Mike Ward and Alan Rawlinson	121
9 UK Television News Robert Beers and Paul Egglestone	139
10 The Changing Face of Sports Journalism and its Relationship with Hard News Guy Hodgson	157

Part 3: Comparative Perspectives from Other Large Advanced Democracies

11 Journalism in Japan Yoshikazu Yada	175
12 Journalism in Germany Knut Hickethier	191
13 Journalism in the United States of America Heinz Brandenburg	209
14 Journalism in Italy Paolo Mancini	229
15 Journalism in France Raymond Kuhn	243
Conclusions Peter J. Anderson	259
Appendix – Edited Interview with Helen Boaden, Head of BBC News and Current Affairs, 4 January 2006 John Drury	275
Index	285