

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction: “A Dirty Little Secret”—Why Teach and Study Pornography? Peter Lehman	1
HISTORICAL CONTEXT
On Pornography John Ellis	25
Letter to John Paul Willemen	48
Generic Pleasures: Number and Narrative Linda Williams	60
Revelations about Pornography Peter Lehman	87
Crackers and Whackers: The White Trashing of Porn Constance Penley	99
How to Look at Pornography Laura Kipnis	118
CURRENT DIRECTIONS
“He’s in the Closet but He’s Not Gay”: Male-Male Desire in Penthouse Letters Henry Jenkins	133

The Change from Film to Video Pornography: Implications for Analysis Chuck Kleinhans	154
Sex and the Law: A Tale of Shifting Boundaries Marjorie Heins	168
Never Laugh at a Man with His Pants Down: The Affective Dynamics of Comedy and Porn Nina K. Martin	189
Asian College Girls and Oriental Men with Bamboo Poles: Reading Asian Pornography José B. Capino	206
Interracial Joysticks: Pornography's Web of Racist Attractions Daniel Bernardi	220
Pornography: What Men See When They Watch Marty Klein	244
Contributors	259
Index	261