

Contents

Preface	ix
PART I An Introduction to Post-Colonial Theory	1
1 Introduction: Points of Departure	3
2 Lines of Resistance	23
3 Said: Knowledge and Power	53
4 Bhabha's Hybridity	73
5 Spivak and the Subaltern	95
6 Post-Colonial Intersections	115
PART II An Introduction to Post-Colonial Literatures	145
7 A Brief Introduction to African Literatures in English Chinua Achebe, Ngugi wa Thiong'o, Ken Saro-Wiwa, Flora Nwapa, Buchi Emecheta, Gcina Mhlope, 'Biyi Bandele, Niyi Osundare, Bessie Head, and others	147
8 A Brief Introduction to South Asian Literatures in English R.K. Narayan, G.V. Desani, Anita Desai, Bapsi Sidhwa, Arundhati Roy, Salman Rushdie, Hanif Kureishi, and others	159
9 A Brief Introduction to Caribbean Literature Merle Collins, Fred D'Aguiar, Lorna Goodison, Grace Nichols, Louise Bennett, Lillian Allen, V.S. Naipaul, and others	169

18	Gender, Class and Colonial Education	259
	Tsitsi Dangarembga's Nervous Conditions and Merle Hodge's Crick Crack, Monkey
19	The Unbearable Heaviness of Growing Up	267
	Jamaica Kincaid's Annie John and Joan Riley's The Unbelonging
20	The Violence of Identity	275
	Alex La Guma's 'A Walk in the Night', Michelle Cliff's No Telephone to Heaven , Bharati Mukherjee's Jasmine and Earl Lovelace's The Dragon Can't Dance
21	'National Allegories' Revisited: A Cognitive-Poetic Perspective	283
	Ngugi's Petals of Blood , Salman Rushdie's Midnight's Children , Ben Okri's The Famished Road , Romesh Gunsekera's Reef and Nuruddin Farah's Maps
	Notes	295
	Select Bibliography	313
	Index	329