

Contents

Acknowledgment	4
A BACKGROUND SKETCH	7
Ibsen's Norway	7
The literary environment	11
HENRIK IBSEN: THE MAN AND HIS WORK	18
Excluded from polite society	18
First poetic attempts and dramatic debut	21
Apprenticeship years and National Romanticism	26
From saga-drama to contemporary comedy	34
The Pretenders – Norway's greatest saga-drama	43
Breaking away and meeting with Italy	48
Brand	51
Peer Gynt	63
A light-hearted interlude	80
'– in the chains of verse'	83
Emperor and Galilean – 'my masterpiece'	93
Society on the stage	109
Ibsen and Brandes – and 'a corpse in the cargo'	109
Pillars of Society	110
A Doll's House	114
Ghosts	122
An Enemy of the People	131
The Wild Duck	136
'Human beings, human emotions and human destinies'	146
Rosmersholm	146

6 IBSEN: THE MAN AND HIS WORK

The Lady from the Sea	153
Hedda Gabler	157
'— judgement day over oneself'	163
The Master Builder	171
Little Eyolf	177
John Gabriel Borkman	179
When We Dead Awaken — A Dramatic Epilogue	185
'— the Rome of modern drama'	192

HENRIK IBSEN: AN ENGLISH LANGUAGE BIBLIOGRAPHY

Biographies	202
Translations	203
Anthologies	204
Ibsen and his relationship to world drama	205
Critical works on the plays of Henrik Ibsen	211