

CONTENTS

PREFACE

GENERAL INTRODUCTION 1

A

THE STATE OF PLAY

CHAPTER 1	AN EXAMINATION OF RELEVANT SECONDARY LITERATURE ON MUSIL	10
	Introduction	10
	The relationship fact and fiction	11
	Narrative technique	13
	Loss of self	15
	Some recent additions - to highlight the specific location of our study	17
	Deductive, comparative and selective methods	20
	Deductive (and selective) method	21
	Outward connections - comparative method	24
	Nietzsche and Musil	32
	Critical or ironic attitudes	36
	The problem of interpretation and criticism of unfinished works in defective editions	40

B

THE INVESTIGATION PROPER

AN EXAMINATION OF 'DER MANN OHNE EIGENSCHAFTEN'

CHAPTER 2	AUTOBIOGRAPHY	46
CHAPTER 3	ULRICH AND 'DER MANN OHNE EIGENSCHAFTEN' - VERTICAL EVOLUTION	54

Earliest projects	54
1903	58
1905 - 1908	60
1907 - 1914	63
1915 - 1920	67
1920 - 1924	81
From 1925	89
CHAPTER 4 ULRICH - HORIZONTAL DEVELOPMENT	92
Book I	92
Book II	112
Continuation and 'Nachlass'	115
CHAPTER 5 ULRICH - THEORY AND REFLECTION	122
The theoretical element	122
Self-consciousness	134
Exactness	137
Essayism	140
New morality	142
→ 'Anderer Zustand'	146
Polarities	151
Different kinds of theory and reflection	154
Different ways of introducing theory and reflection, including via the narrator	155
CHAPTER 6 ULRICH - ABSENCE	166
Some examples of chapters containing a high degree of reference to the absent Ulrich	167
Analogy and variation - and the narrator as substitute for the absent Ulrich	180
CHAPTER 7 THE NARRATOR AND HIS ROLE	191
Introduction	191
I Musil - theoretical - on traditional epic narrative and on the modern novel	193

II	Musil's aims in 'Der Mann ohne Eigenschaften'
	The new vehicle and its characteristics	196
III	The new Narrator
	An examination of the relationship Musil - Narrator	199
EXCURSUS		206
	Background to the changes from nineteenth -century traditionalism to twentieth -century experimentation	207
CHAPTER 8	NARRATOR AND ULRICH IDENTIFICATION	215
	Attitudes to characters	215
	ARNHEIM	215
	DIOTIMA	217
	BONADEA	219
	WALTER	222
	GENERAL STUMM VON BORDWEHR	224
	HAGAUER and LINDNER	227
	LEINSDORF and RACHEL	229
	Contemporary man and society	231
	'Characteristics' and concepts	240
	Parallel changes	247
	Other devices and techniques	251
	'Erlebte Rede'	252
	Sliding perspectives	256
	Ambiguity	261
	Ambiguity of attribution of thought	263
CHAPTER 9	NARRATOR - OWN IDENTITY	269
	Narrator's self-assertion	269
	Narrator - reader	272
	Narrator's time perspective	273
	Narrator - explanatory and manipulative	275
	Narrator's self-consciousness and formal irony	280
	Narrator's style	285
	Narrator's attitude to Ulrich	289

CONCLUSION	296
APPENDIX	298
NOTES	305
ABBREVIATIONS	331
SELECT BIBLIOGRAPHY	332
INDEX	337