TABLE OF CONTENTS

CHAPTER I: PHILOSOPHY AND AESTHETICS: THE STRUCTURE OF THEORY . . . 9

A. Introduction: Object of Investigation.
B. The Structure of Theorizing.
C. The Function of Questioning.
D. Theoretical Thinking as Philosophy and Metaphysics.
E. Theory Formation and Schiller's Aesthetics.

CHAPTER II: AESTHETICS OF FORM . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 26

A. Introduction:
   1) The Metaphysical Nature of the Question-Type,
   2) The Substantive and the Methodological.
B. The Ontological Universe of the Aesthetics of Form:
   1) The Real: The Rationalistic Criterion,
   2) The "Principium Perfectionis,"
   3) Methodo Scientifica.
C. The Aesthetic Universe:
   1) The Generative Principles of Aesthetic Theory,
   2) Gradus Cognitionis,
   3) Materia Universi Aesthetici Prima,
   4) The Structure of the "Perfectico Cognitionis,"
   5) Perfectio Cognitionis Sensitivae.
D. Beauty as the Perfection of the Aesthetic Universe:
   1) Perfection as the Principle of Aesthetic Objectivity,
   2) "Vollkommenheit" as the "Grund" of Beauty,
   3) Conclusion: Speculation on the Meaning of Form.

CHAPTER III: AESTHETICS OF LIFE . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . 71

A. Introduction:
B. The Ontological Universe of the Aesthetics of Life:
   1) The Empirical Manifold,
   2) "Life" as the Principle of Unity,
   3) Associationism and The "Constants" of the Empiricistic World,
   4) Sympathy as the Gravity of "Life,"
   5) Concluding Remarks on the Principle of Life.
C. The Aesthetic Universe of the Aesthetics of Life:
   1) Methodology,
   2) Imagination, Taste, and the Aesthetic Universe,
   3) Imagination
   4) Pleasure as the Aesthetic,
   5) Life as the General Principle of Form,
   6) Association and the Construction of the Aesthetic Universe.
D. Life as the Principle of Beauty:
   1) Method of Analysis,
   2) The Morphology of Beauteous Pleasure: Subjective
      Aspects,
   3) The Morphology of Beauty: Objective Aspects,
   4) Sympathy: The Heart of the Aesthetics of Life.

CHAPTER IV: AESTHETICS OF LIVING FORM

A. Introduction:
B. The Pre-Critical Crisis:
   1) Kant and Rationalism,
   2) Kant and Empiricism,
   3) Kant's Critical Problem.
C. "Critical" Objectivity:
   1) Kant's "Copernican" Revolution,
   2) "Verbindung" as the Objectivity Criterion of Critical Philosophy.
D. The Aesthetic Universe of Critical Philosophy:
   1) The Problem of a "Critical" Aesthetics,
   2) Kant's "Critical" or "Transcendental" Grounding
      of Aesthetics,
   3) The Formal Object of Aesthetic Judgments
      (Aesthetic Objectivity)
E. Schiller's "Aesthetic" Universe:
   1) Schiller's Relationship to 18th Century Aesthetics,
   2) Schiller's Transcendental" Intent,
   3) Schiller's Transcendental Grounding of Aesthetics,
   4) The Aesthetic as "lebende Gestalt",
   5) "Lebende Gestalt" as the Higher Reconciliation.
F. The Structure of the Beautiful Object:
   1) Beauty as the "Objective" Appearance of Freedom,
   2) The Beautiful Object.

BIBLIOGRAPHY