

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	page
Explanation of Footnotes	7
Liste of Abbreviations	9
Introduction	11
Part One: Satire and Social Criticism	15
I. The Power of Satire: The Social Education of Laughter	21
A. Wezel's Satirical Mandate	25
B. The Limitations of Satire	34
C. Realism and Verisimilitude	38
D. Satirical Techniques in Belphegor	41
1. The Distortion of Probability	42
2. Reduction	52
3. Thematic Inversion	55
E. Wieland's Reception of Tobias Knaut and Belphegor	59
1. Belphegor	60
2. Tobias Knaut	62
II. Literary Satire	70
A. Anakreontik	72
B. Kakerlak and Oberon	78
C. Sturm und Drang	84
III. Satirical Social Criticism in Tobias Knaut	91
A. The Scholar	91
B. The Legal System	98
Notes to Part One	103
Part Two: The Shattered Ideal: Aufklärung	117
I. The Socialization of Tobias	120
Phase I: Social Origins	122
Phase II: "Eigenliebe" and the Conflict Between Physical and Social Needs	123
Phase III: The Socialization of "Eigenliebe"	131
Phase IV: Ambition	134
II. The Failure of Reason	136
A. Medardus	137
B. Fromal	140

III. The Failure of Religion	143
A. Cultural Origins	144
B. Superstition and Asceticism	145
C. Religion and Politics	147
IV. Akante: Sexual Attitudes and the Repression of Women	149
V. Selmann: Empfindsamkeit and Disillusionment	156
A. Selmann and Gellert	156
B. Character Metamorphosis	160
C. Separation of Mind and Body	163
VI. Wilhelmine Arend : An Anthropological Approach to Empfindsamkeit	166
A. Dualism and the "anthropologischer Roman"	169
B. Wilhelmine as a Medical Case	172
C. Excursus : Wezel as a Medical Case	178
D. Psychological Aspects	180
E. Social Aspects	188
F. Insanity and Art	192
Notes to Part Two	195
Part Three: Wezel's Political Satire	209
I. Eupator's Benign Monarchy	214
II. The Peasant: Sympathetic Vitality	218
III. The Bureaucrat: The Inefficient Parasite	221
IV. Robinson Krusoe and The Wealth of Nations	225
A. Class Structure and the Division of Labor	226
B. Money, Property and Law	235
V. The Collapse of Utopia	240
Notes to Part Three	245
Part Four: Realism and Potential: Herrmann und Ulrike	249
I. Prelude: Wezel's Rejection of Pessimism	251
II. The Realistic Entwicklungsroman	254
III. Character Development: Herrmann	264
IV. Social Satire and the Class Struggle	277
V. Unrealistic Alternatives and the Political Reality	284
Notes to Part Four	289
Conclusion	291
Bibliography	297
Index of Names	309