

Table of Contents

Introduction	The Naive State	7
Chapter 1	The Fall and its Signs	11
	Ingeborg Bachmann – World of the Father	11
	The Golden Notebook – The Amputated Consciousness	14
	Meditations about Christa T. – Clinging to the Light World	18
	Karin Struck: Geology of the Mother Face	20
	Madness: Symptom or Cure?	26
	Irony	29
Chapter 2	Attempts to Recapture the Naive: Man, Animus, Child	33
	The Golden Notebook : Love and Madness?	34
	Malina : Ivan = Naiv	36
	Christa T. : Husband, Lover, and Animus	40
	A Short Summary and Excursus on the Animus Figure	43
	Karin Struck: The Poet-Lover and Motherly Husband	47
	The Child: Birth and Rebirth	50
	Can One Return?	54
Chapter 3	Salvation through Writing	59
	Chaos and Order	60
	Attitudes to Language	63
	Karin Struck: Writing as a Birthpang?	67
Chapter 4	Other Voices, Same Rooms	73
	Narcissism or Objectless Love: The Three Marias	73
	Can You save Yourself if You're Afraid of Flying: Erica Jong	80
	Lovers and Tyrants – Francine du Plessix Gray	87
Chapter 5	An Approach to Structure – Parataxis	93
	Lovers and Tyrants	96
	The Golden Notebook	98
	Christa Wolf	103
	Erica Jong	104

Bachmann's Malina	105
The New Portuguese Letters	107
Struck	108
Overall Structure	112