

CONTENTS

ABBREVIATIONS	xiii
I EARLY ROMANCE: THE ART OF CHRÉTIEN DE TROYES
(i) The Ideological Background	1
(ii) Courtly Chivalry in Chrétien's Romances	7
(iii) Appearances and Reality in the Romances	11
(iv) Marvels: Magical and Miraculous	13
(v) Symbolism and Irony: Matiere, Conjointure, Sen	15
(vi) The Logic of the Narrative	19
(vii) The Platonist Element in Romance as a Genre	23
II LATE ROMANCE: AMADIS OF GAUL and ESPLANDIAN
(i) Allegory and History in French Prose Romances	29
(ii) The Structure of Amadis of Gaul	37
(iii) History and Fiction in Montalvo's Revised Amadis and the Esplandian	50
III THE BREAK WITH ROMANCE: DON QUIXOTE'S MADNESS
(i) Ariosto, Tasso, and the Dilemmas of Renaissance Aesthetics	70
(ii) The 1605 Prologue	82
(iii) The Nature of Don Quixote's Madness	90
(iv) Don Quixote's Career in Part I: A Qualified Success	99
(v) Don Quixote's Career in Part II: The Absence of Providence	112

IV	IRONY AND THE RELICS OF ROMANCE
(i)	Don Quixote's Ideal Language	126
(ii)	Sancho's Sense of Irony	138
(iii)	The Ironic Author	145
(iv)	The Mad/Sane Paradox	157
V	FROM ROMANCE TO THE NOVEL
(i)	The Emergence of Character	161
(ii)	Character and the Elements of Plot	170
(iii)	Sancho's Triumph and Its Aftermath	182
(iv)	Pathos and Parody	190
	CONCLUSION	203
	NOTES	215
	BIBLIOGRAPHY	241
	INDEX	259