

Contents

Preface

Joan Ferrante: The Court in Medieval Literature -- The Center of the Problem	1
* W.T.H.Jackson: The Court of the Poet and the Court of the King	26
Hubert Heinen: The Concepts hof , hevesch , and the Like in Hartmann's Iwein	41
Ernst S. Dick: The Ambivalence of Courtly Demeanor: Courtly Values in the Context of Romance	58
John W. Baldwin: The Capetian Court at Work under Philip Augustus	71
Roberta Krueger: Contracts and Constraints: Courtly Performance in Yvain and the Charrete	92
* Janet H. Caulkins: The Genealogy of the Prose Tristan and the Theme of a Debased Knighthood	105
David MacKinnon Ebitz: The Oliphant: Its Function and Meaning in a Courtly Society	123
Brigitte Bedos Rezak: The Social Implications of the Art of Chivalry: The Sigillographic Evidence (France 1050-1250)	142
Julian Wasserman and Robert Blanch: The Medieval Court and the Gawain Manuscript	176
Victoria L. Weiss: The "laykyng of enterludez" at King Arthur's Court: The Beheading Scene in Sir Gawain and the Green Knight	189
Lauren Lepow: The Contrasted Courts in Sir Gawain and the Green Knight	200
* Wolfgang F. Michael: Court and Drama	209
Charles S. Ross: The Court of Ferrara and Boiardo's Orlando Innamorato	213