

Contents

PREFACE IN DEFENSE OF A Parti Pris	ix
ABBREVIATIONS	xv
ONE. LUST, LA DEMOISELLE DE CRISTAL.	3
1. The Liturgical Comedy of the Intellect. 2. Art as an Exorcism of Nature. 3. The Misfortunes of Thought, or La panse qui pense. 4. Le Style, c'est le diable. 5. Beware of Love. 6. Eros Energoumenos. 7. Nocturnal Forces and Phantoms at Work. 8. Temptation Gone Sour. 9. Hypocrite lecteur, mon semblable, mon frère. 10. Conclusion.
TWO. LE SOLITAIRE, OU LES MALÉDICTIONS D'UNIVERS. ACT ONE.	39
1. A Cartesian Faust. 2. The Play as a Charade. 3. The Solitaire, Mimicked in Onomastics, Rebus, and Tableau Vivant. 4. On the Stage of Faust's Mind. 5. Exit Mephistopheles. 6. Faust and the Essence of Solitude. 7. The Eternal Silence Exorcised. 8. Two Types of Solitude. 9. Scatological Eschatology. 10. Personal Imperialism. 11. A Herd of Swine and Pascalian Pensées. 12. Halfway Between Beast and Angel. 13. The Intellect, That Prostitute. 14. Language Equals Myth. 15. Walpurgisnacht. 16. Angel or Beast? The Precipitation of Faust. 17. Conclusion.
THREE. LES FÉES.	94
1. The Cartesian View of Passions. 2. Faust's Fall from Metaphysical Heights. 3. Faust's Mind—The Proper Stage for the Drame Intellectuel. 4. To Be or Not To Be . . . 5. The Spirit of Truth Invoked Against a Metaphysical Indigestion. 6. Preterit—The Past Historic, a Definite Past. 7. The Mind's Natural Light Enlightens

- Symbols.* 8. The Cogito and The Temptation of Poetry.
 9. The Pathetic Treasures of This World. 10. *Fleshless
 Temptations and Verbal Alchemy.* 11. An Anti-Proustian View of Memory. 12. *The Pascalian "Wager" and
 The Cogito.* 13. The Mind Abhors Repetition. 14.
Faust, Uomo Universale, and Les Malédiction d'univers.
 15. The Vicious Circle of Creatureliness. 16. Solipsism.
 17. Life's Cycles of Reality and Dream. 18. Conclusion.

FOUR. POETIC SEMI-REALITIES: SELF-PERCEPTION AND SELF-DECEPTION IN GOETHE'S AND VALÉRY'S FAUST. 152

1. The Shattered Theatre Metaphor in Goethe's Faust. 2.
Romantic Excessiveness, Classical Restraints, and the Human Condition. 3. Reawakening to Life in Faust II and in Les Fées. 4. Ideal Beauty and Its Unreality. 5. Formal Hints at Archetypal Patterns. 6. The Fays—The Mothers. 7. Cyclical Symbols. 8. Goethe's Faust: An Apostle of Counterfeit Freedom. 9. Goethe's Faust: Romantic Genius and Flawed Modern Man. 10. The Prelude to Faust II and Valéry's Les Fées Revisited. 11. Pure Poetry—Forever Unfinished. 12. A Cast of the Dice.
 13. Theatricality Versus Drama. 14. Rhythms and Re-buses. 15. Faust's Salvation Preordained by the Lord's Pride and Prejudice. 16. Conclusion.

SELECTED BIBLIOGRAPHY

247

INDEX

251