

Foreword . . . . .	9
1. Education in Utopia . . . . .	15
2. Alcofribas on the Nile, Britomart at the Temple of Isis, Zeno in the Garden of the White Goddess: Illustrations of Poetic Anthropologies in the Renaissance and Baroque . . .	33
3. Cosmic Vision in Lohenstein's Poetry . . . . .	63
4. Primal Utterance: Observations on Kuhlmann's Letters to Kircher, in View of Leibniz' Theories . . . . .	89
5. Scientific Discourse and Postmodernity: Francis Bacon and the Empirical Birth of "Revision" . . . . .	117
6. The Rebel in Seventeenth-Century Tragedy . . . . .	153
7. Time and Eternity in Andreas Gryphius' Catharina von Georgien . . . . .	169
8. Lohenstein's Epicharis : The Play of the Beautiful Loser . . . .	193
9. Dream and Calculus in European Baroque Drama . . . . .	225
10. Transformations of the Female Delinquent in Fiction. . . . .	253
11. Estebanillo und Simplex: Two Baroque Views of the Role-Playing Rogue in War, Crime, and Art (with an Excursus on Krull's Forebears) . . . . .	279
12. Erring and Wayfaring in Baroque Fiction: The World as Labyrinth and Garden. . . . .	297
Acknowledgments. . . . .	325
Index of Names. . . . .	327