

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction	1
PART ONE THE HISTORY OF ROMANTICISM IN CONTEMPORARY CRITICISM
1. The Impasse of American New Literary History	11
Harold Bloom: Judgment and History	11
Geoffrey Hartman: History and Indeterminacy	23
Wordsworth's "Nutting": Suspension and Decision	34
Wordsworth as Psychologist and Socialist	49
2. The Prelude and Critical Revision	57
3. Coleridge and New Criticism Reconsidered	81
4. Shelley, Deconstruction, History	97
PART TWO THE DISCIPLINE OF WHOLENESS
5. Matthew Arnold and English Studies	117
6. D. H. Lawrence and the Modernist Sublime	139
7. F. O Matthiessen and American Studies	157
8. Walter Benjamin and Materialist Historiography	177
Wordsworth and Conrad	177
Charles Baudelaire and Emily Dickinson	194
PART THREE HISTORY IN CONTEMPORARY CRITICAL PRACTICE
9. Frank Kermode and Normal Criticism	217
10. Paul de Man and Deconstruction	239
11. Fredric Jameson and Marxism	261
12. Postmodernism, Politics, and the Impasse of the New York Intellectuals	281
Works Cited	317
Index	339