

Table of Contents

0. Preface.....	3
1. Introduction: decomposing nominalization.....	6
2. Previous research on “category-mixing” in nominalization processes.....	9
3. Theoretical preliminaries: Category hierarchies and transcategorial operations.....	13
3.1. Hierarchy of verbal categories and the layered clause structure.....	13
3.2. Hierarchy of nominal categories and the layered NP structure.....	21
4. Hierarchy constraints on transcategorial operations: The hypothesis.....	25
5. Nominalization as deverbalization.....	27
5.1. The cline of deverbalization.....	27
5.2. Gradualness in deverbalization: a case of Korean.....	33
5.3. Complicating factor: operator/satellite mismatches.....	37
5.4. Structural factors and hierarchy violations.....	38
5.5. Further remarks on the relative ranking of TAM and AGR categories.....	42
6. Nominalization as substantivization.....	47
6.1. Cline of substantivization.....	47
6.2. Counterexamples: nominal hierarchy violations.....	53
7. A model for nominalization.....	56
7.1. Introducing the Generalized Scale Model: Mapping hierarchies.....	56
7.2. Constraints on the Generalized Scale Model: Blocking.....	59
7.3. How to avoid Blocking: Blocking neutralization.....	61
7.4. Blocking Effects.....	63
7.5. Blocking Effects and major nominalization patterns.....	66
8. Remarks on the syntactic typology of nominalizations.....	69
8.1. Blocking and the syntactic typology of nominalizations.....	69
8.2. ERG-POS nominalizations: a problematic pattern.....	72
9. Blocking violations: doubling.....	77
10. Constraints on nominalization. Reappraising some earlier proposals.....	80
11. Verbalization.....	85
11.1. Verbalization and nominalization.....	85
11.2. Verbalization as denominalization.....	88
11.3. Cline of verbalization.....	94
11.4. A model for verbalization.....	100
11.5. Problematic cases.....	104
12. Discussion: Transcategorial operations as a result of competing motivations.....	108
12.1. Iconic and Isomorphic motivations.....	108
12.2. Economy.....	116
12.3. Diachronic issues.....	119
12.4. Extending the scope of the model: GSM and noun/verb underdifferentiation.....	125
12.5. Conclusion.....	130
