

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction The Limits of Autobiography	1
1 Represent Yourself	16
2 Bastard Testimony: Illegitimacy and Incest in Dorothy Allison's Bastard Out of Carolina	45
3 There Will Always Be a Father: Transference and the Auto/biographical Demand in Mikal Gilmore's Shot in the Heart	71
4 There Will Always Be a Mother: Jamaica Kincaid's Serial Autobiography	96
5 Without Names: An Anatomy of Absence in Jeanette Winterson's Written on the Body	120
Conclusion The Knowing Subject and an Alternative Jurisprudence of Trauma	143
Bibliography	149
Index	157