

Contents

Introduction 1

PART I. Team Management, Finances, and Value

- So You Want to Own a Big-League Ball Team? 8
- Capital Needs, Political Realities Fuel New Interest in Sports Offerings 11
- A Miami Fish Story 14
- Take Stock in the Tribe 18
- Has Milstein Lost His Mind? Not Hardly 20
- If the Redskins Are Worth $800 Million ... 22
- The NFL's New Math 29
- Don't Cry for Woody 31
- Ticket Prices and Players' Salaries: The Real Story 33
- Yes, It's about Money 35
- The NFL's Economic Success 36
- How Much Are the Red Sox Worth? 38
- MLB in the Aftermath of September 11 40
- MLB by the Numbers, but Who's Buying? 42
- Baseball by the Numbers 45
- The Mets Are Worth More Than $391 Million 47
- The Sports Franchise Market Is Stronger Than Many Think 49
- Flawed Financial Analysis of NHL Skates on Thin Ice 51
- Baseball's New Numbers: Doom and Gloom or Blip and Fit? 54
- Baseball's New Management Culture Is a Work in Progress 57
- $53 Million for Pedro? How Do You Figure? 60

PART II. League Structure, Design, and Performance

- Fewer Families Own Sports Teams: It's OK 64
- If Competitive Balance Spoils the Show, Congress Waits
in the Wings 66

Selig, Players Both Err Early Regarding Competitive Balance	69
Talent Decompression and Competitive Balance in Major League Baseball	71
Minor-League Basketball: There's a Right Way and a Wrong Way	73
The Commissioner's New Clothes	75
Baseball's Competitive Balance and the Amateur Draft	77
Baseball's Blue Ribbon Panel: Good News and Bad News	80
NFL's Revenue Sharing Saps Will to Win?	83
The Sports Industry during Recessions	85
On Contraction, Selig Should Change His Mind Again	87
Un-Fair Ball	89
Competitive Balance Is a Problem	91
How to Reform the NHL's Economic System	93
MLS Remains Minor League, World Cup Notwithstanding	96
Beantown's New Brain Trust Touches All the Fans' Bases	98
The NFL's Report Card	100
Trading Deadline Activity Raises Issue of Baseball's Competitive Integrity	103
The Gold in Baseball's Diamond	106
What Went Wrong with WUSA?	108
Money Game: Baseball's Short-Lived Rally	110
No Reason to Break Up the Yankees	112
More Financial Smoke and Mirrors from MLB	114
Enough Already: Time to Award D.C. a Franchise	116
Tweaking the NFL Juggernaut	118
Single Entity, Though Alluring, Won't Solve Hockey's Problems	120
British Soccer Fans, Kicked Again (with Stefan Szymanski)	122
McClatchy Is Barking Up the Wrong Tree	126

PART III. Stadiums: Financing, Mega-Events, and Economic Development

Fan Freedom and Community Protection Act of 1996	130
What's BOB Really Worth to Phoenix?	133
Football Stadium Folly	135
When Teams Move, Protecting Both Fans and Owners Is Tricky	137
Now You See the Patriots, Now You Don't: NFL Musical Chairs	139
Flawed Specter Bill Gets an A for Effort	141

A Tale of Facilities in Two Cities: Boston and Green Bay	144
Share of Ballpark: $16 a Year	146
Cards' Offer Is in the Ballpark	149
New York City Can Do Better	151
The NFL and Los Angeles: Here We Go Again	152
Live from New York City: Inflation, Traffic—and the Olympics!	154
Renovating the Stadiums: The Real Economic Story	156
Foxboro's Gillette Stadium: A Model for Others to Ponder	158
Games People Play	160
Straight Talk on Stadiums	162
More Benevolence in Stadium Games	164
New York Facility Triad Is Good News	166
Economic Impact of the Olympics Doesn't Match the Hype	168

PART IV. Antitrust and Labor Relations

Take Me Out to the Cleaners	172
Batter Up, Already	174
Team Profitability and Labor Peace	176
This Bud's for a Salary Cap	178
Let the Market Rule the Basketball Court	180
The NBA Lockout: Who's Dropping the Ball?	183
The NBA Lockout: A Postmortem	187
"Jordan Effect" Won't Rescue the NBA	191
NBA Players Are Doing Fine, Thank You	193
Contraction and Baseball's Antitrust Exemption?	195
Baseball's Addition through Subtraction Just Doesn't Add Up	197
Baseball's Game of Smoke and Mirrors	200
Baseball and D.C. for All the Wrong Reasons	202
All Right All You Lawyers, Play Ball!	206
Baseball: A Deal Can Get Done	208
Labor Relations Heating Up in the NBA	211
The New Baseball Labor Agreement Is Already at Work	214
NHL: Time to Stop Blowing Smoke and Start Real Bargaining	216
A-Rod Capture Makes Dollars and Sense	220
What to Do about the Hockey Mess	222
Hockey Owners Give Their Sport a Slap Shot	224
Monopoly's Money	226

PART V. College Sports and Gender Equity

- College Sports: Surplus or Deficit? 230
- Make Freshmen Ineligible: Only Good Can Come of It 233
- Real Reform, Not Tinkering, Is Needed in College Sports 235
- The NCAA Has Lost Its Way 238
- Unsportsmanlike Conduct 241
- CBS's Big NCAA Deal Is No Cure for What's Ailing College Sports 243
- Win One for the Gipper 245
- Backlash against Title IX: An End Run around Female Athletes 247
- Has March Madness Gone Mad? 251
- Pay for Play in College Sports: Think Twice 253
- College Athletic Success and Donations: Evidence Is Not Encouraging 255
- The NCAA's New Financial Status Report: Good News or Bad? 257
- College Is Not for Everyone 259
- Should College Athletes Be Paid? 261
- Making the (Up)Grade: Tougher Than It Looks 262
- Another Bowl Game Is Not What the NCAA Needs 264
- Numbers, Facts Don't Back Title IX Critics 266
- The BCS Is Ripe for Reform 269
- Clarett Has a Compelling Case for NFL Eligibility 272
- Let Jeremy Bloom Ski and Play Wide Receiver 275
- Curb Coaches' Salaries and Preserve Title IX Gains 278
- Final Word: Million-Dollar Contracts for College Coaches Make Little Sense 281

PART VI. Media and the Regulation of Steroids

- Extreme Is Mediocre and XFL Is the Name 284
- The Increasingly Complex Sports Media Landscape 286
- No Easy Answers for MLB's Steroid Scandal 288
- Reflections on the Super Bowl 291
- In Steroids Hearings, Congress Has Its Eye on the Wrong Ball 293
- Anti-Doping: Settle In for the Long Haul 295

Index 297