

Contents

Foreword Paul B. Baltes	ix
About the Contributors	xv
Members of the Interdisciplinary Working Group “Psychological Thought and Practice in Historical and Interdisciplinary Perspective”	xxiv
List of Illustrations	xxvi
Introduction
Psychological Thought and Practice—Historical and Interdisciplinary Perspectives Mitchell G. Ash	1
Part I. Psychological Concepts in Different Domains: Shared or Divided Meanings?
Attention
1 The “Fluctuations of Attention” Between Physiology, Experimental Psychology and Psycho-technical Application Sven Lüdgers	31

Intention and Will

- 2 Causality, Intentionality, and the Causation of Intentions: 51
The Problematic Boundary
Jochen Brandtstädter
- 3 A Critique of Free Will: Psychological Remarks on a Social 67
Institution
Wolfgang Prinz
- 4 Freedom and Science! The Presumptuous Metaphysics 89
of Free-Will Disdainers
Michael Heidelberger
- 5 Governing by Will: The Shaping of the Will in Self-Help 111
Manuals
Sabine Maasen

The Self

- 6 Scientific Selves: Discerning the Subject and the Experimenter 129
in Experimental Psychology in the United States, 1900–1935
Jill Morawski
- 7 The Self: Colonization in Psychology and Society 149
Kenneth J. Gergen
- 8 The Self Between Philosophy and Psychology: 169
The Case of Self-Deception
Thomas Sturm

Part II. Roles of Instruments in Psychological ResearchInstruments as Organizers of Research Practices

- 9 What Is a Psychological Instrument? 195
Horst Gundlach
- 10 Asking Questions: Measurement in the Social Sciences 225
Fritz Strack and Norbert Schwarz

Instruments at Disciplinary Frontiers:
Psychology and the Neurosciences

- 11 Can the Psyche be Visualized by the Neurosciences? 251
Gerhard Roth, Thomas F. Münte, and Hans-Jochen Heinze
- 12 Brain Imaging Methods and the Study of Cognitive 275
Processes: Potentials and Limits
Rainer M. Bösel
- 13 Mind Reading, Brain Mirror, Neuroimaging: 287
Insight Into the Brain or the Mind?
Michael I. Hagner

Instruments as Metaphors for Psychological Objects

- 14 Tools = Theories = Data? On Some Circular Dynamics 305
in Cognitive Science
Gerd Gigerenzer and Thomas Sturm

Conclusion

- 15 Reflexivity Revisited: Changing 343
Psychology's Frame of Reference
James H. Capsbew
- Index of Persons 357
- Index of Subjects 367