

Contents

Acknowledgements	7
Introduction	9
Chapter 1
Towards a Narratological Framework of Autobiography	21
Chapter 2
One Life into Two Stories: Temporal Arrangement, Narrative Situation and Commentary in Frederick Douglass's Autobiographies of 1845 and 1855	41
Chapter 3
The Political and/or the Personal: Perspective, Duration and Style in Richard Wright's Black Boy and Zora Neale Hurston's Dust Tracks on a Road	87
Chapter 4
Present Tense, Unreliability, and Audience in Maya Angelou's I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings and Gwendolyn Brooks's Report From Part One	137
Chapter 5
Voices from Behind and Beyond the Veil: Stylistic and Rhetorical Devices and the Issue of Black Identity in Booker T. Washington's Up From Slavery and W.E.B. Du Bois's Dusk of Dawn	177
Conclusion:
Towards a New Poetics of African American Autobiography	199
Bibliography	207
Index	223