

Contents

Contributors	ix
Foreword	xvi
Acknowledgements	xxiii
Introduction	1
1 Bridging the Mythical Divide: Political Economy and Cultural Studies Approaches to the Analysis of Media Natalie Fenton	7
2 The Media Industry: Structure, Strategy and Debates David Croteau and William Hoynes	32
3 Mass Media and New Media Technologies Michael J. Breen	55
4 Unravelling the Web of Discourse Analysis Philippa Smith and Allan Bell	78
5 News Content Studies, Media Group Methods and Discourse Analysis: A Comparison of Approaches Greg Philo	101
6 Framing and Frame Analysis Jenny Kitzinger	134
7 Mass Media Re-Presentations of the Social World: Ethnicity and 'Race' Amanda Haynes	162
8 Media Representations of Social Structure: Gender Joke Hermes	191
9 Media, Power and Political Culture John Corner	211

10	Proximity and Scope as News Values Pamela J. Shoemaker, Jong Hyuk Lee, Gang (Keven) Han and Akiba A. Cohen	231
11	Text and Textual Analysis Peter Hughes	249
12	Analyzing Fictional Television Genres Kim Akass and Janet McCabe	283
13	From Family Television to Bedroom Culture: Young People's Media at Home Sonia Livingstone	302
14	Fan Culture - Performing Difference Jeroen de Kloet and Liesbet van Zoonen	322
15	Community Media and the Public Sphere Kevin Howley	342
16	Media and Diaspora Karim H. Karim	361
	Index	380